Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reproved are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Nurse Whistleblower: Hospitals Vaccinating Patients by Force Without Their Knowledge

May 15, 2016 10:13 am

The momentum, consciousness and continual discussion around truth and education related to vaccine injury has never been greater. Parents and communities have taken the initiative to find answers for their sons and daughters who've suffered severe adverse events from immunization.

Evaporating fast are the days of dead end solutions and pharmaceutical answers provided by mainstream medicine's corrupt toolbox. Like an untamable ripple effect, this awakening has also encompassed the discussion around mandatory vaccination, lack of informed consent, pharmaceutical control of American healthcare and an overall lack of health freedom currently resting on a slippery slope.

In the age of information, the incidences of whistleblowers are increasing. As health freedom and informed consent is eroding at breakneck speeds, those left with ethics, courage and humanity within such a system are keeping quiet no longer. Meeting on the first Friday of each month, the Talk About Curing Autism's Pennsylvania chapter support meeting gathers to provide education, support and resources for families that are in need.

At a recent meeting that took place during the first week of May, a nurse was filmed using the live streaming app Periscope warning of forced flu vaccinations occurring in U.S. hospitals. In addition, the nurse gave possible solutions to the unaware, targeted public in an effort to preserve their informed consent and avoid unwanted adverse reactions. According to the new nurse whistleblower:

Since the Affordable Care Act came out, we are now — as nurses — required to ask every single patient when they come to the hospital if you've had your flu vaccine or your pneumococcal vaccine. If you say no to either one of those, in the computer, an order will generate that says we need to give you this vaccine. We don't need to speak to a doctor...it's hospital policy. It's now health department policy that we now have to give you the vaccine.

New Signed Consent for Hospital Services Includes Vaccines – But Patients Unaware They are Granting Such Consent

A nurse whistleblower who works in a U.S. hospital recently revealed how hospitals now vaccinate patients against their desire: "When you go to the hospital if you need surgery — say you need a knee replacement surgery — first they're going to ask you if you've had your vaccines. You're going to say no. Then they're going to say you need to sign this consent if you're going to have surgery...you need to sign a consent. In the consent, there's a word call "biogenics [biologics]" and if you sign the consent saying "I consent for you to give me biogenics [biologics]” — that basically means that they can give you anything that they deem necessary including vaccines. So if you say that you didn't get a flu shot and it's flu season and you sign the consent saying I agree to biogenics [biologics], they will give you a vaccine even when you're under anesthesia because you already signed the consent. Unless you go and get your medical records, you will not know you got a flu vaccine. They [the hospital] may tell you at the end “oh by the way, you're now covered, you've had the flu vaccine or you got the pneumococcal vaccine.” Two people now have reported to me last week saying that they got the vaccine; they did not want the vaccines. They did not know that the word biogenics [biologics] meant they're going to get a vaccine. So how can people protect themselves? Accordinging the nurse, perhaps a simple strategy can instantly combat this push towards forced vaccination now happening in U.S. hospitals. She warns:

When you sign consent for surgery, you can specifically say ‘no vaccines, I don't want this.’ You can write an initial after what you say you do not want and they have to honor that. And if they don't honor that, they can be sued.

The US Food and Drug Administration \(FDA\) defines biologics using the following statements:

Biological products include a wide range of products such as vaccines....In contrast to most drugs that are chemically synthesized and their structure is known, most biologics are complex mixtures that are not easily identified or characterized.

It should be noted that the Department of Justice publishes a quarterly list of vaccine severe adverse reaction settlements and injuries. The majority of the vaccine injuries contained on the DOJ's list are a direct result of the flu shot. Furthermore, denying the patient this knowledge — and access to the manufacturer's insert before injection — constitutes a laundry list of broken medical ethics agreements and violations of international codes protecting humans against forced medical experimentation.

Subject: Microchip

Hi friends, A warning to those who may go into hospital for minor procedures.

One of my work mates recently went in to hospital to get a benign lump out of her breast. When she was discharged from hospital the doctor informed her that he put a chip in. My chin nearly hit the floor with shock. I suggested that she go back to the doctor and demand it to be taken out at their cost as it should never have been put in without her permission. So be careful when you go into hospital. You may have to tell them...no chip! Otherwise they may just put one in.

Blessings, Julie

You see this? What truth is there to this? More importantly, what can you do to stop them?

Published on Nov 9, 2012

A must see video/radio interview by ICAACT leaders Lars Drudgaard and Jesse Beltran, HD-version. Do not hesitate to share, like and distribute this video to everyone.

Implants do not only have tracking capabilities, but they also have the ability to affect, monitor and change the carrier's brain functions and biological functions, to a degree that it can only be compared to torture. The torture can lead to death or suicide.

Lars Drudgaard and Jesse Beltran are interviewed by a Dutch radio host in Brussels October 5. They talk about the work of ICAACT, which involves finding factual evidence of implants in the victims' bodies. An important part of this is to scan the victims for Radio Frequency emissions from their bodies. Another is to be of help to victims when they interact with doctors or authorities, who are prone to claim (without doing any investigation) that the victim suffers from a psychological disorder. ICAACT helps victims to prove these professionals wrong, & also to help them deal with this "new type" of problem in today's technologically advanced society. Traditional treatments and diagnosis might be obsolete in some cases.

Lars Drudgaard talks about the development of these chips and their use on prisoners, a little bit about old CIA experimentation documents.

Jesse Beltran talks about the very specific places on the human body where RF is emitted, suggesting that the implantation of many individuals isn't random.

Both Beltran and Drudgaard speak about how the implants work, using changing magnetic fields that power them up, and also a bit about the different types of implants that now exist and that are constantly becoming smaller and smaller, more difficult to find, Another subject is how these implants can be easily introduced in the human body and the fact that some people only emit a radio frequency from a specific spot on their bodies, where they either had an operation done or the flu vaccine.

New vaccines will permanently alter human DNA

By Jon Rappoport--Why is the government so maniacal about injecting vaccines?

Consider this article in light of the accelerating push to mandate and enforce vaccination across the planet.

The reference is the New York Times, 3/15/15, "Protection Without a Vaccine." It describes the frontier of research. Here are key quotes that illustrate the use of synthetic genes to "protect against disease," while changing the genetic makeup of humans. This is not science fiction:

"By delivering synthetic genes into the muscles of the [experimental] monkeys, the scientists are essentially re-engineering the animals to resist disease."

"'The sky's the limit,' said Michael Farzan, an immunologist at Scripps and lead author of the new study."

"The first human trial based on this strategy – which is called immunoprophylaxis by gene transfer, or I.G.T. - is underway, and several new ones are planned."

"I.G.T. is altogether different from traditional vaccination. It is instead a form of gene therapy. Scientists isolate the genes that produce powerful antibodies against certain diseases and then synthesize artificial versions. The genes are placed into viruses and injected into human tissue, usually muscle."

Here is the punchline: "The viruses invade human cells with their DNA payloads, and the synthetic gene is incorporated into the recipient's own DNA. If all goes well, the new genes instruct the cells to begin manufacturing powerful antibodies."

Read that again: "the synthetic gene is incorporated into the recipient's own DNA."

The Times article taps Dr. David Baltimore for an opinion: "Still, Dr. Baltimore says that he envisions that some people might be leery of a vaccination strategy that means altering their own DNA, even if it prevents a potentially fatal disease."

Let's take this further. Under the cover of preventing disease (and all good covert ops float a laudatory goal to conceal their true intent), vaccines are ideal carriers for all sorts of genes that would be permanently incorporated into the human structure.

The enormous tonnage of propaganda about vaccines, and the resultant mandatory laws that enforce vaccination, create a powerful channel along which re-engineering of humanity is eminently possible.

Synthetic genes injected into billions of humans would form a grand experiment to create an altered species.

This grand experiment could be compartmentalized. For example, secretly, genes 1-6 would be injected into Group A in geo-location I. Genes 7-12 would be injected into Group B in location II. And so on.

Vaccine recipients will be subjected to ongoing surveillance to gauge the results. On various pretexts, members of these groups will be brought into clinics for exams and tests, to discover markers that purportedly reveal their bodies' responses to the genetic alterations.

Of course, there is no informed consent. The human guinea pigs have no knowledge of what is being done to them.

And what would be the objectives of this lunatic research program? They would vary.

On a simplified level, there would be two. Create weaker and more docile and more obedient and more dependent humans.

On the other side, create stronger and healthier and more intelligent and more talented humans. Obviously, the results of the latter experiments would be applied to the "chosen few." And clearly, some of this research will be carried on inside the military. Secrecy is easier to maintain, and the aim to produce "better soldiers" is a long-standing goal of the Pentagon and its research arm, DARPA.

A global vaccine experiment of the type I'm describing here has another bonus for the planners: those people who fall ill or die can be written off as having suffered from various diseases and disorders which "have nothing to do with vaccines." This is already SOP for the medical cartel.

The numbers of casualties, in this grand experiment, would be of no concern to the Brave New World shapers. As I've documented extensively, the US medical system is already killing 2.25 million people per decade (a conservative estimate), as a result of FDA-approved drugs and mistreatment in hospitals. Major media and government leaders, aware of this fact, have done nothing about it.

Here is a quote from Princeton molecular biologist, Lee Silver, the author of Remaking Eden. It gives you a window into how important geneticists are thinking about an engineered future:

"The GenRich—who account for ten percent of the American population—[will] all carry the synthetic genes. All aspects of the economy, the media, the entertainment industry, and the knowledge industry are controlled by members of the GenRich class..."

"Naturals [unaltered humans] work as low-paid service providers or as laborers. [Eventually] the GenRich class and the Natural class will become entirely separate species with no ability to crossbreed, and with as much romantic interest in each other as a current human would have for a chimpanzee..."

"Indeed... it is hard to find any legitimate basis for restricting the use of repro[grammed]-genetics. I will argue [that] the use of reprognetic technologies is inevitable. [W]hether we like it or not, the global marketplace will reign supreme."

Here is another gem, from Gregory Stock, former director of the program in Medicine, Technology, and Society at the UCLA School of Medicine:

"Even if half the world's species were lost [during genetic experiments], enormous diversity would still remain. When those in the distant future look back on this period of history, they will likely see it not as the era when the natural environment was impoverished, but as the age when a plethora of new forms--- some biological, some technological, some a combination of the two---burst onto the scene. We best serve ourselves, as well as future generations, by focusing on the short-term consequences of our actions rather than our vague notions about the needs of the distant future."

Notice that these two well-known scientists are speaking about "ethics." A significant number of such experts have their own lunatic version of what is right and wrong.

With vaccines that permanently alter human genetic makeup on the horizon, and given the corporate and government-agency penchant for secrecy; do we already inhabit the Brave New World. It's not a distant prospect.

Which is why the defense of freedom becomes ever more vital.

That struggle comes down to who controls, the legal definition of human rights and, not the science. Is each human merely and only a system waiting to be re-engineered, or is he something far more, inhabiting a physical form?

We already know what the vast majority of brain researchers and geneticists believe, as well as the governments and corporations and universities and foundations that make important decisions, & it's not good.

That leaves us to take up the argument and the resistance.

Not Lee Silver at Princeton or Gregory Stock or Bill Gates or George Soros or David Rockefeller or the Pope or Stephen Hawking or Obama or the Clintons or Monsanto or Dow or the Bush family or PBS or FOX or socialists or Communists or liberals or some devil at Harvard or MIT or UCLA.

Humanity must resist this evil

++ Superbugs will 'kill every three seconds'

May 19, 2016 Superbugs will kill someone every three seconds by 2050 unless the world acts now, a hugely influential report says.

The global review sets out a plan for preventing medicine "being cast back into the dark ages" that requires billions of dollars of investment.

It also calls for a revolution in the way antibiotics are used and a massive campaign to educate people. The report has received a mixed response with some concerned that it does not go far enough.

The battle against infections that are resistant to drugs is one the world is losing rapidly and has been described as "as big a risk as terrorism".

Since the Review on Antimicrobial Resistance started in mid-2014, more than one million people have died from such infections.

And in that time doctors also discovered bacteria that can shrug off the drug of last resort – colistin – leading to warnings that the world was teetering on the cusp of a "post-antibiotic era".

Comment: From my last health newsletter we read:

++ Why should I be concerned about antibiotic resistance?

Antibiotic resistance occurs when germs outsmart drugs. In today's healthcare and community settings, we are already seeing germs stronger than the drugs we have to treat them. This is an extremely scary situation for patients and healthcare workers alike. - Recent CDC Statement

Colloidal silver has been known as an effective antibiotic for centuries. In the early 1900s, Alfred Searle, founder of the Searle pharmaceutical company, discovered that it could kill the most deadly pathogens. Searle stated that applying colloidal silver to human subjects has been done in a large number of cases with astonishing results. The main advantage was that it was rapidly fatal to microbes without toxic action on its host. Recent research has also stated that colloidal silver can destroy antibiotic resistant microbes like MRSA, potential pandemic flu strains, and SARS.

Invive Mild Silver Protein: The Ultimate Immune System Product For Colds, Flu's and Infections. Website: For More Information Click Here

The March 1978 issue of Science Digest, in an article, 'Our Mightiest Germ Fighter,' reported: . . . "An antibiotic kills perhaps a half-dozen different disease organisms, but silver kills some 650. Resistant strains fail to develop."

"Colloidal Silver . . . killed every virus that was tested in the lab," UCLA Medical Center

Back to the report:

The review says the situation will get only worse with 10 million people predicted to die every year from resistant infections by 2050.

Six months ago, BBC referred to this kind of thing as the 'Antibiotic Apocalypse' \(see BBC: 'Antibiotic Apocalypse'\).

Notice also something else related to this:

November 18, 2015 BOULDER, COLORADO—

Livestock producers often guard against disease and speed the growth of healthy animals by feeding their herds and flocks frequent, low doses of antibiotics. Scientists and consumers are increasingly concerned that this practice is creating superbugs that are resistant to drugs.

Lilly Adams, with the consumer advocacy group Food and Water Watch, is one of many activists working to stop what she sees as the overuse of antibiotics on factory farms.

"Eighty percent of our antibiotics in the United States actually are used on factory farms to compensate for really filthy, crowded conditions," she said. "This just isn't how antibiotics are meant to be used. So this overuse of the antibiotics is causing antibiotic-resistant bacteria to grow in the farms, and this spreads into the environment."

Which subsequently has been linked to more infections in humans that do not respond to available drugs; and an estimated 700,000 deaths a year globally. ...

Many Northern European countries now ban regular antibiotics for healthy livestock, and they also have stricter rules for human antibiotics.

It has paid off, according to Diarmaid Hughes, a Swedish professor of bacteriology.

"Consistently, the Nordic countries – Sweden, Finland, Norway, Denmark – have higher rates of resistance for all of the major infections," Hughes says the entire world needs these policies. Otherwise, he warns, antibiotic-resistant pathogens will cause more deaths from currently treatable illnesses such as pneumonia, cholera and tuberculosis. In addition, he says, deaths after routine surgery for an injured knee or a heart attack may become commonplace.

"All of these will become very dangerous operations," Hughes said, "because you have to give them effective antibiotics to have a safe operation."

<http://www.voanews.com/content/livestock-antibiotics-superbugs-resistance/3063575.html>

Human beings are directly causing antibiotic resistance.

In the USA, China, and many other places, chickens and pigs are often raised much too closely together. This is wrong. Notice that righteous farmers have consideration for their animals:

Pro 12:10: A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the tender mercies of the wicked are cruel.

Unnecessary animal cruelty is wrong—and one of the reasons that antibiotics are used so widely in animals is because of how they are improperly raised.

I have warned about this for some time, and even made a YouTube video about this last year: Are Americans & Asians setting themselves up for destruction from antibiotic use?

This overuse of antibiotics in animals, as well as humans, poses a major risk for the USA, Asia, and other places.

By using so many antibiotics in animals, the USA and other places have been setting themselves up for 'super bugs' which are resistant to most medical interventions. This could cause a dramatic loss of livestock as well as cause many humans to become sick and even die.

Combine this with the risk that the USA has with more and more of its genetically-modified crops and it becomes apparent that the USA specifically (along with the UK and Canada, which tend to have similar practices) is setting itself up for agricultural failure which could lead to famine.

In modern times, we have scientists and government officials who act like 'experts' but are affected by greed and other motivations. Enough politicians (and revolving government-corporate employees), in both major political parties in the USA, have accepted so much money from agricultural interests, that they have blinded themselves to what is happening.

It probably should also be mentioned that because of the use of antiseptics and antibiotics, modern hospitals have become breeding grounds for more difficult bacteria. A time of severe pestilences is coming.

The end of chemical medicine: Superbug discovered in America that resists ALL known antibiotics... blind faith in failed pharma will soon cost you your life (NaturalNews) It's always interesting to study how civilizations collapse and eras of seemingly great human ingenuity come crashing to an end. Since the discovery of penicillin by Alexander Flemming in 1928, the chemical medicine industry has promised humanity that all our ills will be cured by prescription medications. We've been promised that cancer, diabetes, heart disease and even Alzheimer's will all be cured once the pharmaceutical industry finally discovers the correct chemicals for treatment. But today, we've come to realize that Big Pharma's chemicals aren't curing us... there DOOMING us.

Superbugs are antibiotic-resistant bacteria. They're immune to Big Pharma's chemicals, in other words, and they come into existence because of the over-prescription of existing antibiotics. If you attack bacteria with chemicals for long enough, the bacteria develop biological immunity to the chemical. It happens automatically, and it's part of nature's adaptation mechanism (at the cellular level). The problem, of course, is that it only takes one mutation to render an entire antibiotic drug obsolete.

As bacteria become more and more resilient to Big Pharma's toxic chemicals, the medical efficacy of antibiotic drugs collapses, one by one. Big Pharma's chemicals fall like dominoes, overrun by the molecular ingenuity of these superbugs. To prevent a "superbug apocalypse," drug companies and hospitals have kept one chemical in reserve: colistin, a "last ditch defense" against superbugs. This is the drug that's used when everything else fails... it's the very last option when a patient is being literally eaten alive by antibiotic-resistant bacteria.

Today we've just learned that colistin is now becoming obsolete, too. A 49-year-old woman in Pennsylvania was just found to be carrying a colistin-resistant infection, reports Raygano.com. The same story has been carried across the mainstream media.

What this means is that the era of chemical antibiotics is now reaching its inevitable end. Big Pharma can no longer save you from the infections it brought into existence.

This week, the Senate approved a bipartisan compromise that provides $1.1 billion to research and fight the Zika virus

The American people expect us to be prepared to combat threats, whether they are natural or man-made.

Today this threat is Zika. Two years ago it was Ebola. The years before that, novel flu strains. We don't know what the next threat will be or how it will arise, but by staying focused on identified threats and being vigilant to finish what we start, we will be better prepared for the next threat.

Subject: The Deception of the Medical Profession & a HIV Viral Testimony and Protocol Description

Hey Scott, I am attaching my labs. Man, I don't even know where to start, other than to say that I'm blown away at what's unfolding before me. I am sending you my labs from February 17th of this year and the ones from a couple of weeks ago on May 17th. Keep in mind that when I had these last labs done on 5/17 it was day 34 of the Invive / supplements program...Here's the biggie. My viral load for Feb was 79,540. May's is 33,450! When I spoke with my case manager a couple of days ago she told me that the raise in my CD-4 count was insignificant. She...said that I was "continuing to decline". She FAILED to mention that my viral load had massively improved. Hopefully I'm not misinterpreting any of this, but I'm seeing now how I've been lied to the entire time I've been going to this dr. It's always been 'you don't know what you're talking about' so 'take the pills'. Please feel free to look these over and tell me what you think.

This has been a revelation to me. I've always known the medical industry is corrupt, but to experience this for myself takes it to another level. Please get back with me when you get a chance and let me know what you think. I'm anxious to get back on all the supplements and order more silver. Thanks brother for all you do!

Dr. Johnson's Response: Tom: Sorry I am just getting to your emails now. Just totally buried. This is exactly what I thought and also bear in mind the 33,450 viral load (which is way over a 58% drop, compared to your previous load of 79,540), a lot of what they are detecting is dead virus particles still in your system. The viral load test doesn't not differentiate. As far as live virus particles in your system, the number is most likely much lower, but it takes time for your body to clear the dead ones out.

Honesty it sounds like these devils you are dealing with are pure evil. Purposely making it hard for you to get these labs, knowing your viral load number had dropped by way over 58% with even a slight rise in in CD-4 and they tell you, you are "declining"!!!!

OK now I think we may want to try to make sure we are filling in as many potential weak links as possible to maximize the effects of this protocol. To make this more cost effective I would propose dropping the Immuplex and Congaplex to 4 a day of each while adding in some of the products below. Some questions:

1) Are you on some kind of whole food multivitamin, as this is kind of a foundational product you really need to be one to shore up any weak links. If not I would recommend one of the ones below:

Innate Response Men's One Daily Iron Free- 60 count

Innate Response Men Over 40 One Daily- 60 count

Intramax--See the attachment

2) St. Johns Wort has been proven in double blind studeis to devastate viral replication. I have access to the strongest one I know of: St John's Wort 1.8g

3) Selenium - prevents retroviruses HIV, Cocksackie, Ebola ...

Low Selenium levels lead to weakened antioxidant defenses, reduced immune surveillance, higher viral replication rates and thus conditions favoring viral mutation. It is also known that Selenium prevents a number of Retroviruses like HIV, Cocksackie, Ebola, Marburg and Flu viruses from replicating in the host cells.

It interferes with the reverse transcription of the viral RNA to viral DNA thus preventing virus replication.

Research shows it prevents the progression of HIV to AIDS. Professor Luc Montagnier of the Pasteur Institute (one of the discoverers of HIV) states that "Selenium was currently the most realistic hope for those infected with HIV in the world's impoverished nations, of the slowing of the progression of HIV to AIDS..."

Selenium, an essential mineral, functions as an antioxidant and a component of another antioxidant, glutathione peroxidase. Deficiencies of either substance impair the body's immune system and ability to fight infections. But if recent research is any indication, the role of selenium in disease prevention may be much more profound than previously imagined.

This is the best whole food seleinum I know of & Rx: Innate Response Selenium 90 count

4) A good flora product as this is essential for immune system function. See the attachments. If not I would recommend a one a day (empty stomach) of the Flora 50-14.

5) For HIV/Aids a good full body cleanse with a emphasis on liver and gallbladder is recommended. If you have never done a cleanse this is the one I recommend:

Livaplex® 6 a day for a month

Choline 6 a day for a month

SP Cleanse® 10 a day for a month

All these are by Standard Process. You would need two bottles of each of these products to complete a one month cleanse.

++ Sorry I threw a lot at you but now that you are moving in the right direction I want to keep you moving that way. I have found in the past that with HIV you have to be aggressive and keep hitting it from different angles.

God bless!
