Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

I John 4:18: "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

Heb 13:6: "So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me."

II Timothy 1:7: "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

Psalm 2:1-5 ¶ Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, [saying], Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us. He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision. Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.

Mustaine: 'Black magic ruined my life'

The singer became fascinated in witchcraft as a teen and he's convinced spells he cast have come back to haunt him.

Now a strict Christian, he's keen to distance himself from his dark past - and refuses to play his song "The Conjuring" from 1986 album "Peace Sells... but Who's Buying" on tour - because the lyrics about black magic still affect him.

He tells Total Guitar magazine, "Performance wise, The Conjuring is one of the heaviest songs on the record, but unfortunately it's got black magic in it and I promised that I wouldn't play it any more, because there's a lot of instructions for hexes in that song. Although it seems kinda corny, anybody who's a Wiccan (witch) or a warlock or anything like that will know that all of that stuff is instrumental.

"When I got into black magic I put a couple of spells on people when I was a teenager and it haunted me forever, and I've had so much torment. People say, 'Dave never gets a break, he's had such a hard life,' and I just think, 'No, Dave didn't - he got into black magic and it ruined his life.'

Subject: Katy Perry: Promoting Intercourse with "Aliens"--The indoctrination of the youth to the coming great deception

Hi Dr. Johnson,

The wicked witch of the west(that's my nickname for her) is up to it again not only does she promote homosexuality by her song "I kissed a girl"(and I liked it), and also promiscuity to little girls with the "teenage dream" song that tells young teen girls to essentially have no morals and to be whores like her. Now she is selling the alien gospel with her knew UFO song "ET". No I'm not joking. I give you the link to her video as well as the commentary analysis of the lyrics and video by LA Marzulli. Caution towards the end of the video there is nudity): Can you believe that this WITCH was raised by Christian pastor parents!! Perry grew up listening to only gospel music and sang in her local church as a child....Satan must be so proud of her, leading all these poor kids to hell! Just another thing to pray about.

The LORD shall send upon thee cursing, vexation, and rebuke, in all that thou settest thine hand unto for to do, until thou be destroyed, and until thou perish quickly; because of the wickedness of thy doings, whereby thou hast forsaken me.

Best Regards and Jesus Christ be with you, Cynthia

Katy Perry Ft. Kanye West – E.T. Remix Lyrics

Warning this video is pure evil and nudity is involved:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=t5Sd5c4o9UM&feature=youtu.be&hd=1>

Well, well, well. I guess I'm just a 60-year-old fuddy-duddy, who is out of touch with the young and hip crowd. I'm glad, and here's the review of this video in a nut shell – ET. indoctrination! The video opens with Kanye West, who is rapping some vulgar, base, gutter-mouth, nonsense and is a graphic illustration of how our culture, or lack of it, has slipped in to the abyss of absurdity.

We can hide from this video and pretend that it hasn't been watched by over 12 million people, or we can watch it, and afterward pray. Pray for our kids & grandkids, that they wouldn't be poisoned by this garbage. Pray for this nation that spews this trash out like there's no tomorrow. Pray that people's eyes would be opened to what is coming, ET, and the Great Deception.

This video blurs the lines of what is human and it does so deliberately. There is a shot where Perry's eyes turn reptilian, that's deliberate. Then there's the lyric, ready for abduction, which again is deliberate. Do we really think this is just good fun, kids being kids? When we first hear Perry, her character is spinning through space and it is a large gray alien; then this alien (while singing the words to the song) morphs into Katy's character, which in nothing more than transhumanism. The Katy again morphs into a hybrid humanoid with incredibly evil reptilian eyes multicolored facial features.

She then falls to earth, where it is apparent that something cataclysmic has happened, as the scene is a wasteland. She awakens a life-form that is being protected with a robotic suit. Then we hear from West, who spews his vulgarity and explicitly sexual language that makes one wonder, if he's possessed. The images that flash by are deliberate. We see mating animals, a bowl of cherries, a baby being born, monkeys mating. This goes by very fast and in order to see it I had to stop the video. Finally Perry kisses this humanoid and awakens it. In the final scene we see who Perry's character really is, something out of Greek mythos, a faun, a centaur like creature. They hold hands and look into the sunrise, it's a brave new world. There is a date that shown on a glass case displaying a now extinct pigeon, it's 2030.

In closing today's post: In my opinion we are being set up to accept transhumanism, ET, and the so-called extraterrestrial presence. It's everywhere and as the planet continues to spin out of control – there was another 7.1 earthquake over the weekend – people are becoming desperate to find a solution to the problems that are facing us. I believe ET will come bearing gifts, like a source of free energy, and a chip that extends our lifespan, disease free, for over 500 years. Just like Avatar, "V" and District 9, this video blurs the line of what it means to be human. The lyrics to the song are correct in that they tell us that these creatures are: from a whole different dimension. That dimension, in my opinion, is the second heaven and it is the realm of the fallen one and his demons.... Welcome to the Great Deception.

Lady Gaga grows horns and claims she's channeling Alexander McQueen guardian.co.uk, Thursday 14 April 2011—

Lady Gaga's hyperactive skeleton on the cover of Born This Way

She may be renowned for her fanciful soundbites, but Lady Gaga has now gone full-fledged silly, claiming she has magical bony protrusions which "come out when I'm inspired". Oh yes, and she is also channeling the ghost of Alexander McQueen. Lady Gaga has shown off her skin-bumps in a few places so far, including on the cover of latest single Born This Way and in a new photo-shoot for Harper's Bazaar. "Gaga emerged from make-up at our shoot with pointy shoulders and sharp protrusions on her forehead and cheekbones," explained Bazaar editor Laura Brown. It's a look more Klingon than Björk, but when writer Derek Blasberg asked Gaga about the get-up, she insisted that they are all natural.

"First of all, they're not prosthetics," she said. "They're my bones ... They've always been inside of me, but I have been waiting for the right time to reveal to the universe who I truly am." The singer said the ridges rise up when inspiration strikes – and that she's not alone. "We all have these bones! They're the light from inside of us."

Interrogated more firmly, Gaga did admit the facial horns are part of a "performance-art piece", with "body modification" being "part of the overarching analysis of Born This Way". But she denied the use of any plastic surgery, and made no mention of subdermal implants. "I am an artist, and I have the ability and the free will to choose the way the world will envision me," she said.

Gaga also claims that the late fashion designer Alexander McQueen is the composer of her latest single, released on 11 February. "Right after he died, I wrote Born This Way." She was particularly struck when the release date for the song turned out to be the anniversary of McQueen's death. "When I heard that, I knew: I didn't even write the %*$# song! He did!"

"I think he planned the whole thing," she continued. "He's up in heaven with fashion strings in his hands, marionetting away."

"It's artistic expression," Gaga says. "It's a performance-art piece. I have never, ever encouraged my fans or anyone to harm themselves, nor do I romanticize masochism. Body modification is part of the overarching analysis of 'Born This Way.' In the video, we use Rico, who is tattooed head to toe [including a skull on his face]. He was born that way. Although he wasn't born with tattoos, it was his ultimate destiny to become the man he is today."

And this was Gaga's destiny?

"I have never had plastic surgery, and there are many pop singers who have. I think that promoting insecurity in the form of plastic surgery is infinitely more harmful than an artistic expression related to body modification."

Woman mutilates cat before Lady Gaga concert - KDVR

Michelle says:

Animal Sacrifice before a evil concert

OKLAHOMA CITY -- The gruesome death of this 15-year-old tabby cat is incredibly disturbing. Charges of animal cruelty have been filed against 20-year-old Angelina Barnes in the Oklahoma County district court after authorities say Barnes mutilated the family cat and used the blood for an outfit she planned to wear to a Lady Gaga concert.

Barnes' relative arrived at their home on 158th in Northwest Oklahoma City to total darkness. "There were things done to the house like covering light switches with duct tape so she wouldn't be able to turn on the light," OKC MSgt. Gary Knight said.

The court affidavit says Barnes was found in an outfit she planned to wear to the Lady Gaga concert; a long coat and streaks of what turned out to be cat blood on her face. "This person [Barnes' relative] became very afraid that the suspect was going to try to do harm to her," MSgt. Knight said. Records show Barnes then asked for help and was taken to the hospital where she threatened a male nurse with a piece of glass.

Back at home, investigators found purple hair dye and blood all over the bathroom along with the cat that had been drowned; sliced down the belly, eyes mutilated, the cat's liver was found in a makeup case on counter.

We know that Barnes had been diagnosed with depression but those around her say this violent behavior was completely out of character.

Children as young as four to be educated in atheism

By Daily Mail Reporter--29th March 2011

School pupils aged just four are to be taught atheism in a move schools hope will equip them to be 'citizens of the world'.

Education bosses in Blackburn with Darwen, Lancashire, have radically restructured the RE syllabus to accommodate non-religious beliefs.

Youngsters will continue to learn about the six major faiths - Christianity, Buddhism, Hinduism, Islam, Judaism and Sikhism - but they will also be taught humanism, the belief that there is no God or Gods, and that moral values are founded on human nature and experience.

Psa ¶ The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they 14:1 have done abominable works...

The move recognises that more than 10,000 people in the borough do not have any religious beliefs. Both primary and secondary school pupils will be included in the shake-up.

Humanists reject religious and superstitious beliefs.

Instead, they believe we can make sense of the world using reason, experience and shared values.

They say we can make the best of life by creating meaning and purpose for ourselves, and choosing to take responsibility for our actions.

Humanists do not believe the universe needs a divine power to determine its value.

Humanists believe that we have only one life, it is our responsibility to make it a good life, and to live it well.

Fiona Moss, from RE Today, which helped create the new syllabus, said: 'We really must recognise that some people do not believe in God and do not have a religious background.

'We have to make children aware of non beliefs.

'We want to support children to engage and enthuse them about RE to become good citizens in Blackburn and the world.

Councillor Chris Thayne, chair of Blackburn said: 'We don't want the future to be blind. We want it to be illuminated. We need understanding without prejudice.'

Reverend Kevin Logan, a local journalist, author and religious community leader, said:

'It is quite a change but it is completely right to recognise atheism and humanism.

'They are religions like any others. It is just that people worship man instead of a god.

'I am certainly not worried about Christianity. It can stand against any belief and come out in a good light.'

Puberty blocker for children considering sex change

By Richard Alleyne, Science Correspondent --15 Apr 2011

The monthly injection suspends the onset of adulthood so that young people confused about their gender can be sure of any decision before they take on too many masculine or feminine features.

Supporters say that the "window" prevents a great deal of mental and physical anguish caused by the maturing of sex organs, facial hair growth and changes in the voice.

The treatment can be prescribed for people diagnosed with Gender Identity Disorder (GID) – a rare psychiatric condition where a person is born one sex, but feels they are the other.

One of the main effects of the drugs is to stunt the development of sexual organs so less surgery will be required if someone chooses to permanently change their gender at a later date.

However, bodily and hormonal changes will continue as normal if the medication is stopped.

Until this month, British doctors were prevented from offering youngsters diagnosed with gender issues any medical intervention before the late stages of puberty usually at 16.

But now the National Research Ethics Service has given approval to the UK's only specialist clinic for GID – to prescribe the drugs to youngsters from 12 years old.

Dr Polly Carmichael, the clinic director, said the reduction in the age limit will be welcomed by families who would have otherwise had to travel abroad to the US for the treatment.

"I know what's been very hard for their families is knowing that there's something available but it's not available here.

"This delay gives us a window to explore together that they are definitely making the right decision."

Boys will be prevented from developing male traits such as facial hair, deeper voices and Adam's apples and girls will not develop breasts or menstruate.

But Dr Carmichael said that only around 10 to 20 per cent of prepubescent children with GID went on to have a sex change.

Around 80 per cent in late puberty were likely to have the operation.

The Military's Rampant Secret Shame: When Men In The Military Rape Other Men

Greg Jeloudov was 35 and new to America when he decided to join the Army. Like most soldiers, he was driven by both patriotism for his adopted homeland and the pragmatic notion that the military could be a first step in a career that would enable him to provide for his new family. Instead, Jeloudov arrived at Fort Benning, Ga., for basic training in May 2009, in the middle of the economic crisis and rising xenophobia. The soldiers in his unit, responding to his Russian accent and New York City address, called him a "champagne socialist" and a "commie fa*." He was, he told NEWSWEEK, "in the middle of the viper's pit." Less than two weeks after arriving on base, he was gang- raped in the barracks by men who said they were showing him who was in charge of the United States. When he reported the attack to unit commanders, he says they told him, "It must have been your fault. You must have provoked them."

What happened to Jeloudov is a part of life in the armed forces that hardly anyone talks about: male-on-male sexual assault. In the staunchly traditional military culture, it's an ugly secret, kept hidden by layers of personal shame and official denial. Last year nearly 50,000 male veterans screened positive for "military sexual trauma" at the Department of Veterans Affairs, up from just over 30,000 in 2003. For the victims, the experience is a special kind of hell—a soldier can't just quit his job to get away from his abusers. But now, as the Pentagon has begun to acknowledge the rampant problem of sexual violence for both genders, men are coming forward in unprecedented numbers, telling their stories and hoping that speaking up will help them, and others, put their lives back together.

In fact, it is the high victimization rate of female soldiers—women in the armed forces are now more likely to be assaulted by a fellow soldier than killed in combat—that has helped cast light on men assaulting other men.

Glenn Beck boldly demonstrates the tight connection between Freemasonry and the Mormon Church! Symbols tell the full story.

NEWS BRIEF: "Glenn Beck dons Freemasonic patch during broadcast", InfoWars, April 8, 2011

"It was on his Friday, April 1, program, but it was no joke. Glenn Beck, who has announced he will leave Fox News, was blatantly wearing a masonic emblem over his grey sweater ... Included in the imagery is a Mason's compass, a skull, a scroll & pen, and a date that appears to be 1681 or 1682 ... Why would Beck choose this apparel? Is it an obscure reference to colonial founders or a tip-off that his allegiances lie with the secret society-elites who have long wielded power?"

We have long maintained that a person must be committed to the Masonic Lodge and to its global ideals of a New World Order before they will be allowed to even step on the public stage. Certainly, Glenn Beck is demonstrating such loyalty.

But, there is much more to this story. In the new DVD, above, "Mormonism's Temple of Doom", Bill Schnoebelen proves that Mormonism was founded on Masonic principles and doctrine. In fact, the Mormon Church practices a most powerful form of Freemasonry. Therefore, we should not be too surprised to learn that Glenn Beck -- a most avid Mormon -- has just shown his true Masonic colors.

Now, let us review an even more sinister display of the Black Fraternity -- the Skull & Crossbones. Beck is wearing this emblem on his belt in a most public manner.

What is Beck's purpose in wearing this Death's Head belt? The purpose of any such display of occult symbols is to simultaneously accomplish two goals:

1) Send a message to other occultists that the person wearing the symbol that he is part of their fraternity and supportive of their plan for the world.

2) Hide this fact from an unsuspecting public

Listen to the comments from this article.

"... It is little different than Arnold Schwarzenegger, David de Rothschild and many others wearing such symbols while posing for magazines or other media-- an act of flaunting their inclusion in elite circles and secret societies over the ignorant public who are not meant to understand."

Now you know the truth of Glenn Beck and his Mormon Church: Masonic to the core.

Comment: Sorry but from a Biblical standpoint what needs to be done is to turn this wolf in sheep's clothing over to Satan according to 1 Cor. 5:

Delivering Over To Satan – Dr. Scott Johnson – 00.mp3

In this teaching we will start off with a short Bible study regarding the end times by looking at Isaiah 1: 4-9 and Jeremiah 5:23-29. You will see the startling parallels these verses have to modern day America and the apostate churches within her. We will then discuss 1 Corinthians 5 and mandates this portion of Scripture set forth regarding our duty as Christians to judge sin in the church as: "A little leaven, leaven the whole lump". We will also look at what the Scriptures mean regarding: "Deliver such an one over to Satan for the destruction of the flesh". Because church discipline is almost non-existent in the vast majority of congregations, it has allowed sin to run rampant in the church which in turn has allowed corruption to seep into the church like never before.

Titus 1:16: "...They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate.

II Corinthians 11:13-15: For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works.

II Peter 2:17-19: "These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever. For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error. While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage."

Jeremiah 5:26-31: "For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait, as he that setteth snares; they set a trap, they catch men. As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich. They are waxen fat, they shine: yea, they overpass the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cause, the cause of the fatherless, yet they prosper; and the right of the needy do they not judge. Shall I not visit for these things? saith the LORD: shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this? A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land; The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so; and what will ye do in the end thereof?"

II Timothy 4:3-4: "I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables."
