Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Psalms 94:16&20: "Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?... Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with thee, which frameth mischief by a law?"

Matthew 7:15: "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves."

Titus 1:15b-16: "...unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled. They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate.

II Corinthians 11:13-15: For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works.

II Peter 2:17-19: "These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever. For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error. While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage."

Jeremiah 5:26-31: "For among my people are found wicked men: they lay wait, as he that setteth snares; they set a trap, they catch men. As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen rich. They are waxen fat, they shine: yea, they overpass the deeds of the wicked: they judge not the cause, the cause of the fatherless, yet they prosper; and the right of the needy do they not judge. Shall I not visit for these things? saith the LORD: shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this? A wonderful and horrible thing is committed in the land; The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so; and what will ye do in the end thereof?"

BP Official Admits to Damage BENEATH THE SEA FLOOR

As I noted Tuesday, there is growing evidence that BP's oil well - technically called the "well casing" or "well bore" - has suffered damage beneath the level of the sea floor.

The evidence is growing stronger and stronger that there is substantial damage beneath the sea floor. Indeed, it appears that BP officials themselves have admitted to such damage. This has enormous impacts on both the amount of oil leaking into the Gulf, and the prospects for quickly stopping the leak this summer.

On May 31st, the Washington Post noted:

Sources at two companies involved with the well said that BP also discovered new damage inside the well below the seafloor and that, as a result, some of the drilling mud that was successfully forced into the well was going off to the side into rock formations.

"We discovered things that were broken in the sub-surface," said a BP official who spoke on the condition of anonymity. He said that mud was making it "out to the side, into the formation."

On June 2nd, Bloomberg pointed out:

Plugging the well is another challenge even after BP successfully intersects it, Robert Bea, a University of California Berkeley engineering professor, said. BP has said it believes the well bore to be damaged, which could hamper efforts to fill it with mud and set a concrete plug, Bea said.

Bea is an expert in offshore drilling and a high-level governmental adviser concerning disasters.

On the same day, the Wall Street Journal noted that there might be a leak in BP's well casing 1,000 feet beneath the sea floor:

BP PLC has concluded that its "top-kill" attempt last week to seal its broken well in the Gulf of Mexico may have failed due to a malfunctioning disk inside the well about 1,000 feet below the ocean floor.

The broken disk may have prevented the heavy drilling mud injected into the well last week from getting far enough down the well to overcome the pressure from the escaping oil and gas, people familiar with BP's findings said. They said much of the drilling mud may also have escaped from the well into the rock formation outside the wellbore.

On June 3rd, The Canadian Press quoted the top government official in charge of the response to the oil spill - Admiral Thad Allen, the commandant of the Coast Guard - as pointing to the same possibility:

The failure of the so-called top kill procedure - which entailed pumping mud into the well at high velocity - suggested "there actually could be something wrong with the well casing, and there could be open communication in the strata or the rock formations below the sea floor," Allen said.

On June 7th, Senator Bill Nelson told MSNBC that he's investigating reports of oil seeping up from additional leak points on the seafloor:

Senator Bill Nelson (D-FL): Andrea we're looking into something new right now, that there's reports of oil that's seeping up from the seabed... which would indicate, if that's true, that the well casing itself is actually pierced... underneath the seabed. So, you know, the problems could be just enormous with what we're facing.

Andrea Mitchell, MSNBC: Now let me understand better what you're saying. If that is true that it is coming up from that seabed, even the relief well won't be the final solution to cap this thing. That means that we've got oil gushing up at disparate places along the ocean floor.

Sen. Nelson: That is possible, unless you get the plug down low enough, below where the pipe would be breached.

Indeed, loss of integrity in the well itself may explain why BP is drilling its relief wells more than ten thousand feet beneath the leaking pipes on the seafloor (and see this).

Yesterday, recently-retired Shell Oil President John Hofmeister said that the well casing below the sea floor may have been compromised:

[Question] What are the chances that the well casing below the sea floor has been compromised, and that gas and oil are coming up the outside of the well casing, eroding the surrounding soft rock. Could this lead to a catastrophic geological failure, unstoppable even by the relief wells?

John Hofmeister: This is what some people fear has occurred. It is also why the "top kill" process was halted. If the casing is compromised the well is that much more difficult to shut down, including the risk that the relief wells may not be enough. If the relief wells do not result in stopping the flow, the next and drastic step is to implode the well on top of itself, which carries other risks as well.

As noted yesterday in The Engineer magazine, an official from Cameron International - the manufacturer of the blowout preventer for BP's leaking oil drilling operation - noted that one cause of the failure of the BOP could have been damage to the well bore:

Steel casing or casing hanger could have been ejected from the well and blocked the operation of the rams.

Oil industry expert Rob Cavner believes that the casing might be damaged beneath the sea floor, noting:

The real doomsday scenario here... is if that casing gives up, and it does come through the other strings of pipe. Remember, it is concentric pipe that holds this well together. If it comes into the formation, basically, you've got uncontrolled [oil] flow to the sea floor. And that is the doomsday scenario.

Cavner also said BP must "keep the well flowing to minimize oil and gas going out into the formation on the side".

Given the impact on America's people, natural resources and economy, BP and the government must fully disclose the amount of damage underneath the sea floor, and what that means for the efforts to cap the well.

U.S. Authorities Shut Down WordPress Host With 73,000 Blogs

Written by enigmax on July 16, 2010--After the U.S. Government took action against several sites connected to movie streaming recently, nerves are jangling over the possibility that this is just the beginning of a wider crackdown. Now it appears that a free blogging platform has been taken down by its hosting provider on orders from the U.S. authorities on grounds of "a history of abuse". More than 73,000 blogs are out of action as a result. Once again, the Obama administration has violated the Bill of Rights. The action was completely ignored by the corporate media.

Hot on the heels of recent threats from Vice President Joe Biden and Intellectual Property Enforcement Coordinator Victoria Espinel directed at sites offering unauthorized movies and music, last month U.S. authorities targeted several sites they claimed were connected to the streaming of infringing video material.

NSA Building 'Massive' Spy System To Monitor Domestic Infrastructure; Contractor Building It Says It Is 'Big Brother'

The National Security Agency has begun work on an "expansive" spy system that will monitor critical infrastructure inside the United States for cyber-attacks, in a move that detractors say could end up violating privacy rights and expanding the NSA's domestic spying abilities. The Wall Street Journal cites unnamed sources as saying that the NSA has issued a $100-million contract to defense contractor Raytheon to build a system dubbed "Perfect Citizen," which will involve placing "sensors" at critical points in the computer networks of private and public organizations that run infrastructure, organizations such as nuclear power plants and electric grid operators. In an email obtained by the Journal, an unnamed Raytheon employee describes the system as "Big Brother." "The overall purpose of the [program] is our Government...feel[s] that they need to insure the Public Sector is doing all they can to secure Infrastructure critical to our National Security," the email states. "Perfect Citizen is Big Brother."

OBAMA ONE STEP CLOSER TO INTERNET CONTROL

By NWV News writer Jim Kouri--July 11, 2010--NewsWithViews.com--Senate Bill 773, as written by West Virginia Sen. Jay Rockefeller, Democrat, would create new “emergency” powers for the President to have power over any “non-governmental” computer networks, whether public or private, that are declared by the President to be “critical.”

Before the Summer recess, the Senate Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee unanimously approved Protecting Cyberspace As a National Asset Act of 2010.

The bill, co-sponsored by Senators Joe Lieberman (I-Conn.), Susan Collins (R-Maine) and Thomas Carper (D-Del.), gives the President the authority to order independent operators of "critical infrastructure" to completely shutdown the Internet.

During an interview, Sen. Lieberman used the cybersecurity system utilized by the People's Republic of China, a decidedly totalitarian government, as an example of his own bill's applications.

In the House of Representatives, Congresswoman Jane Harman (D-Calif.) introduced similar legislation on June 16, which was sent to the appropriate committees for debate.

The Senate bill if passed would give the President of the United States the authority to declare a “cyber emergency” and close down the Internet by disconnecting users.

In addition, it will require professional IT people to be certified by the federal government, something that angers many IT technicians and those who believe in the First Amendment.

Americans are being deceived by the news media and their elected officials in Washington, DC and it's Americans who will suffer from that deception, according to information technology experts.

This stealth legislation is being sponsored by the powerful and highly partisan Senator Jay Rockefeller (D-WV) and the liberal Senator Olympia Snow (R-ME), claim critics. <http://www.newswithviews.com/NWV-News/news208.htm>

A top Bilderberger and former member of President Bill Clinton's Cabinet, boldly stated that Obama's popularity is so bad that the only thing that could save him now was another terrorist attack on the scale of 9/11!

NEWS BRIEF: Top Clinton Official/Bilderberger: Only A Terror Attack Can Save Obama ", Infowars, July 14, 2010

"A former senior advisor to President Bill Clinton says that the only thing which can rescue Barack Obama's increasingly tenuous grip on power as his approval figures continue to plunge is a terror attack on the scale of Oklahoma City or 9/11, another startling reminder that such events only ever serve to benefit those in authority."

This last phrase is completely true: terrorist attacks do serve the interests and further the agenda of the politicians in power! The attacks of 9/11 are a perfect example. President Bush and Congress were able to pass the draconian Patriot Acts I and II, which take our freedoms and Constitutionally-guaranteed liberties away on paper. The attacks of 9/11 so traumatized the American people that, now, new laws are being enacted even though the "terrorist attack" failed. Thus, we had the spectacle of the failed "Shoe Bomber" and the equally failed "Times Square Bomber".

America today is an Absolute Dictatorship on paper. Our freedoms are gone, on paper.

One of the only reasons we are still walking around today is because the time for overthrowing our present government has not yet come; all plans will culminate in the outbreak of World War III. As former Satanist, Doc Marquis, has emphasized time and time again, not one part of the Plan will jump out ahead of the others. World War III is the watershed event in all of modern history, for out of this war, Antichrist will come striding!

Now, let us return to our featured news story.

"... Robert Shapiro makes it clear that Obama is relying on an October surprise in the form of a terror attack to rescue his presidency. 'The bottom line here is that Americans don't believe in President Obama's leadership,' said Shapiro, adding, 'He has to find some way between now and November of demonstrating that he is a leader who can command confidence and, short of a 9/11 event or an Oklahoma City bombing, I can't think of how he could do that.'"

Does anyone remember that leaders were saying much the same thing during Bush's eight years? We captured some of these misinformation articles in a comprehensive report, NEWS1888, entitled, "SINCE 9/11 THE WORLD HAS CONTINUALLY BEEN SUBJECTED TO GLOBAL "WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS". We posted this summary article in January, 2004.

We demonstrated that false official warnings of another terrorist attack permeated the news from 9/11/2001 through January, 2004, when we posted this summary. But, our point is that this kind of false alarm has been quite common since the attacks of 9/11. This news story is yet another "Rumor of War".

Wall Street Apocalypse: Doomsday Investor Recommends Farmland Retreat For When The Hammer Finally Drops

Predictions of the end of civilization are nothing new, but the direst prognosticators have, traditionally, existed on the fringes of society, where their dark visions can be comfortably attributed to an excess of libertarianism or a shortage of Prozac. In the last few years, however, something strange has happened. While there is no lack of survivalists stockpiling cat food and rifles, some of the direst thinkers are now working on Wall Street, where a combination of fear and foresight has many of the country's money men contemplating their escape routes. The patron saint of the Wall Street apocalypse society may be Barton Biggs. The leader of Traxis Partners, a multibillion-dollar hedge fund, Biggs has gained a reputation for his dire predictions, particularly those of his much-quoted 2008 analysis of World War II, Wealth, War and Wisdom. At the end of the book, Biggs offers his conclusions from his brief study of history, suggesting the likelihood of a future era in which "People with wealth" will face "another time of cholera when the Four Horsemen will ride again and the barbarians unexpectedly will be at their gate." Biggs offers some interesting advice for hedging the apocalypse. In addition to prescribing a highly diversified portfolio heavily invested in equity instruments, Biggs also advises that his readers buy farms to which they can retreat when the hammer drops.

Officials continue to condition Americans to the concept that all illegal immigrants should be included in a North American Union citizenship.

NEWS BRIEF: "Arizona Sheriff Defends Immigration Law", Fox News, July 13, 2010

"OVERLAND PARK, Kan. -- An Arizona sheriff known for his tough stance on illegal immigration has told a group of nearly 2,000 Kansas Republicans that his state needs its new immigration law because the federal government isn't doing its job ... Kobach helped write the Arizona law that directs officers to question people who have been stopped for another crime about their immigration status if there's a reasonable suspicion they're in the U.S. illegally. Arpaio says the law will allow his state to protect its residents."

Protestors adamantly claims that this new law will lead to "Racial Profiling".

We believe this entire episode is simply and only an outward working of the classic "Six Step Attitudinal Change Plan".

In this Arizona illegal immigration law, the law itself is Step #1, "Some practice so offensive that it can scarcely be discussed in public is advocated by a RESPECTED expert in a RESPECTED forum."

Arizona lawmakers passed this controversial law and the governor signed it. These are the RESPECTED experts speaking from their offices -- the RESPECTED forum. Now, the protestors and the official Federal Government challenge, represents Step #4, " In the process, sheer repetition of the shocking subject under discussion gradually dulling its effect."

After the lawsuits provides enough "sheer repetition", someone will step forward with a bold counterproposal, a hybrid concept which is neither the original status quo ("Thesis", Illegal immigration as it is today), nor the bold reform of the Arizona law now under fire ("Antithesis"). This new idea will be a middle position ("Synthesis") and will propose to make all these people North American citizens.

That is the bottom line goal in this entire affair.

A measure in the U.S. House of Representatives that would force the chamber into a new vote on Obamacare, even if House Speaker Nancy Pelosi doesn't want it, is halfway toward its needed support. ### WARNING: Beware of "Evangelical" Wolves in Sheep (Christian) Clothing!

The White House invited four of the country's top evangelical pastors to attend President Obama's speech this morning calling for immigration reform. The move is proof both to the importance the issue has come to assume in the evangelical world—including among leaders who have battled Democrats on social issues like abortion and gay marriage—and to the White House's eagerness to enlist evangelicals to help to counter conservative opposition to the idea of a path to citizenship for illegal immigrations already in the U.S.

Here's a cheat sheet on evangelical bigwigs the White House was expecting at this morning's event:

1. The Rev. Leith Anderson, President, National Association of Evangelicals. The NAE is the nation's largest evangelical group and has long sought to be a moderate evangelical alternative to the Christian Right. After sitting out the 2007 fight over immigration reform, the group passed a unanimous resolution last year supporting comprehensive reform.

(Note: "Comprehensive Reform" = AMNESTY FOR ILLEGAL MEXICANS & TOTAL DISREGARD FOR THE RULE OF LAW!)

2. Dr. Richard Land, President, Southern Baptist Convention Ethics and Religious Liberty Commission. Land is the public policy chief for the country's largest evangelical denomination, a perch he has used to bash the Obama administration on multiple fronts, including health care reform. But he sees comprehensive immigration reform as a biblical mandate—and worries that conservatives will burn bridges with the country's fast-growing Hispanic bloc if they take a hard anti-immigrant line. "Hispanics are hard-wired to be like us on sanctity of life, marriage and issues of faith," Land told CNN recently, describing political similarities between Hispanics and white Southern Baptists. "I'm concerned about being perceived as being unwelcoming to them."

(Note: Or does that "concern" speak to an additional millions of dollars in the collection plates each Sunday??? There are an estimated 12 MILLION ILLEGALS living in the U.S. Also, where is the Biblical text and verse that "MANDATES" breaking the LAW OF THE LAND?!?!?)

3. The Rev. Samuel Rodriguez, President, National Hispanic Christian Leadership Council. Rodriguez leads the country's largest Hispanic evangelical group and has credibility with Christian Right leaders because of his anti-abortion and anti-gay marriage advocacy. He has recently partnered with the dean of Liberty University Law School, Mat Staver, in a bid to convince conservative Christian groups like Focus on the Family to get behind comprehensive immigration reform.

4. Bill Hybels, Senior Pastor of the 12,000-plus member Willow Creek Community Church located in Northwest-suburban Chicago, Illinois, one of the country's largest congregations. A prominent evangelical moderate, Hybels was a spiritual advisor to President Bill Clinton.

****(Note: So-called "Christian" groups will increasingly be used as an empowering arm of the New World Order to subjugate, hypnotize, and assist in cajoling & mesmerizing the masses into submission to government/corporate enslavement through perversion of the pure Word of God (quoting scripture out of context such as in Romans 13:1), satanic perversion of music and methods used right out of the Monroe Institute handbook used by Russia, U.S., foreign gov'ts, CIA, MK-Ultra mind-controlled slave program, Black-Ops, etc : http://www.forteantimes.com/features/articles/147/remote\_viewing\_at\_the\_monroe\_institute.html)

Romans 13 & Unlimited Subservience to the Government: Where should a Bible Believing Christian Draw the Line?

Feds Train 501c3 Clergy To 'Quell Dissent' During Martial Law

Please take notice of the mass mind-controlling methods currently being employed in mega-churches throughout North America, i.e., flashing bright colored pinwheel images used in professional hypnosis on the "church". Professional staging auditoriums with no windows or outside distracting lights whilst repetitive lyrics are sung to the screen projected ear-splitting loud mind-controlling rock and rock drum & base guitar beats over and over and over again. Add to that the mind-manipulating REVERSE messages found in these repetitive lyrics - go ahead listen to the reverse lyrics for yourself - you won't believe what you hear!!!!

There is an agenda at large as God has revealed to His servants who have eyes to see and ears to hear. Be vigilant beloved, guard your minds, your hearts, your very souls from the well-oiled satanic machine of deception. Beware of wolves in sheep clothing! JESUS admonishes us in Matthew 7:15-23 "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. You shall know them by their fruits....Not every one that saith Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that does the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in your name? cast out devils? and in your name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess to them (the adherents of the false gospel being promulgated in the Mega-Churches to the very ruination of souls), I never knew you; depart from me, you workers of iniquity

Obama Names Suzan Johnson Cook Ambassador For International Religious Freedom

LTRP Note: Suzan Johnson Cook (Dr. Sujay), now appointed by Obama as Ambassador for International Religious Freedom, is a former Clinton spiritual advisor and a "Reverend" with the American Baptist denomination. Headed by Ambassador-at-Large for International Religious Freedom, its Office Director and staff monitor religious persecution and discrimination worldwide, recommend and implement policies in respective regions or countries, and develop programs to promote religious freedom.<sup>1</sup>

According to a Washington DC press release in 2009, Johnson Cook is dubbed Billy Graham and

According to Johnson Cook's website, she is also a member of Renaissance Weekend, an interfaith think tank that "seeks to build bridges across traditional divides of professions and politics, geography and generations, religions and philosophies."

Alien Abductions Are Not What You Think

I well remember the pioneering research that my late friend, apologetics teacher David Lewis, used to present to eager audiences. David had many interests, but specialized in Israel. When he told me once that he was preparing for a UFO conference, I was intrigued to say the least. The sight of this regal gentleman sitting with the tinfoil hats was comical and fascinating at the same time. When David revealed to me that he had discovered a key to understanding the so-called "alien abductions," I leaned in. "Jim," he said, "Christians who call on the name of the Lord are protected in these situations." An amazing new book adds further insight. Authors/researchers David Ruffino and Joseph Jordan have crafted an incredibly absorbing book, "Unholy Communion: The Alien Abduction Phenomenon, Where It Originates and How It Stops." There is a riveting section, in which personal testimonies add rich layers to the investigation. The subject of UFO encounters and abductions has permeated the culture: Everyone from secularists to the religious have embraced the subject. Ruffino and Jordan take an approach that sets them apart.

Black Awakening? Twilight Vampirism Said Giving Today's Kids The Kind Of Religion They Want

By Tanya Erzen--July 8, 2010 | Last November, I sat in a theatre in South Jordan, Utah with 4,000 Twilight Moms who had gathered for the weekend to celebrate the release of New Moon after two days of raucous pre-film festivities. As I sat watching Eclipse, the newest film adaptation of Stephenie Meyer's blockbuster Twilight series (in the six days since it opened, Eclipse has grossed \$176.4 million), it wasn't the wolves, newborn vampire army, fight sequences, love triangle or brief appearance by the Volturi that I found mesmerizing. It was the fans seated around me. They had come to watch the film after holding their own red carpet events at home, sharing Eclipse-theme dinners, exchanging flowers with one another, reciting lines from the book, donning golden vampire contact lenses, holding sleepovers, and wearing t-shirts bearing slogans with variations on favorite quotes: "Edward Cullen, I Promise to Love You Every Moment of Forever." The women and girls in Ohio were just part of the millions in the fanpire worldwide who have built imaginative social worlds around the film premiere and the series in general.

Writers like Jana Riess have astutely noted the Mormon religious themes embedded in the books. However, an overlooked aspect of the series is the way fans worldwide have created a Twilight-inspired universe that encompasses all aspects of their lives: from using the texts as spiritual guides, to Edward addiction groups to twi-rock music to Cullenism, a religion based on the values of Edward's family of vegetarian vampires.

The Shack Author Says: "The God of Evangelical Christianity is a Monster."

This past Friday night, author and researcher Ray Yungen attended a lecture at Concordia University in Portland, Oregon to hear The Shack author William Paul Young. The name of Young's talk was "Can God Really Be That Good?" During the talk, Young told the audience that "the God of evangelical Christianity is a monster." He was referring to the evangelical belief that God is a God of judgment and will judge the unbelieving. Young also rejects the biblical view of atonement (wherein Jesus died as a substitute for us to pay the price of our sins). This view by Young is evident in a radio interview he had one year ago where he rejected this view of the atonement. He echoes the sentiments of William Shannon and Brennan Manning, who both say that the God who punishes His own son to pay for the sins of others does not exist:

He is the God who exacts the last drop of blood from His Son, so that His just anger, evoked by sin, may be appeased. This God whose moods alternate between graciousness and fierce anger - a

God who is still all too familiar to many Christians - is a caricature of the true God. This God does not exist. (Shannon, Silence on Fire, p. 110, also see Manning who stated the very same thing in Above All, pp. 58-59 )

Young told the audience that his book has now sold 14 million copies. He says that he believes his book has been a "god thing" to heal people's souls because so many people have been tainted by this evangelical God.

Young said his book is so effective because when you put something in a story form it gets past mental defenses.

Young's obvious disdain for Christianity (in a derogatory manner, he said there are "1.4 million" rules in the evangelical church) is shown in his book as well when The Shack's "Jesus" states: "I have no desire to make them [people from all religious and political backgrounds] Christian, but I do want to join them in their transformation into sons and daughters of my Papa" (p. 184).

Young asked "evangelicals," "Do you want to hold onto your darkness?" and answered for them, "No, you want to get rid of it."

I found this to be interesting. It seems the Jesuits have infiltrated voice of the martyrs. Anything to convince people that catholicism is real, and that following Jesus is synonymous with catholicism. Satan must be tickled. Get all the unsuspecting, undiscerning, uninformed american 'christians' to believe that catholicism is Christian. This is in reference to the story from Iraq.

These pictures reveal the good 'christian' that Catholic Archbishop Emil Nona is. <http://www.khoranat-alqosh.com/vb/showthread.php?t=11876>The dagon hat is a nice touch. The man is a pagan devil worshipper, the people in the photos are a bunch of pagans who need the words of God to break through the darkness that V.O.M. and american 'christians' labels as 'christianity'. It's got nothing to do with the real Jesus, nothing to do with spiritual truth in reality.

Although they are much closer to where these catholic practices came from. Pagan idolatrous wickedness started in babel, trickled around the world, got mashed together in Rome, and finally all the filth is back in the hands of the Chaldeans. Like a satanic 'return to sender' 35 hundred years in the making lol. They worship the false gods that their ancestors worshipped. Nimrod and Semiramis would be proud.

After looking at the photos on that website, come back to the VOM paragraph, but keep a barf bag handy. "Ask God to guard the hearts of Iraqi Christians against fear so they can continue serving him with boldness." Anything to broaden "god's" love and mercy. All catholicism is, is Satanic baggage in a trojan horse. If satan can get ppl to embrace the trojan horse into their hearts and minds as 'christian' then there'll be all kinds of ungodly, unbiblical, strong delusion lies and filth to smuggle in also. And with great ease. My heart is grieved that so many people can be so deceived, both the Chaldean Mary worshippers, and 'christians' in america who thing catholicism is legit. I wouldn't think it was so easy to trick human beings if i didn't see it for myself. I guess you can convince people to believe just about anything. And with great ease. Romans 16:18 by Itamar Marcus and Nan Jacques Zilberdik--PA TV chose to honor the female Palestinian terrorist Sanaa Shehadeh by visiting her home, interviewing her family and broadcasting her two young nieces dedicating an anti-Israel war song to her. Sanaa Shehadeh is serving 3 life sentences in an Israeli prison for transporting a suicide terrorist to Jerusalem in 2002. Three civilians were killed and dozens wounded in the attack on King George Street.

-Eric

The hate song chosen by the girls, which they knew by heart, included the words, "I want to carry a machine gun and a rifle," and, "We shall strike Israel."

The girls were filmed outside the terrorist's home and appeared in a prerecorded feature on official Palestinian Authority TV about Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails.

The following are the words of the song dedicated to the terrorist on PA TV:

Prisoner's niece 1:

"I want to recite a song for you [Palestinian prisoner Sanaa Shehadeh]:

What am I doing here while my enemy is on my ancestors' land?
I want to defend, I want to fight,
I want to carry a machine gun and a rifle."
Prisoner's nieces 1 and 2:
"And tomorrow, when the war starts,
I won't care about you [my enemy], or about the West.
And tomorrow when the war starts,
I won't care about you [my enemy], or about the West.
And we shall strike Israel, we shall strike Israel,
And return you [to us], land of my ancestors;
And return you [to us], land of my ancestors." [PA TV (Fatah), May 28, 2010]

McDonald's TV ad features homosexual teen

A controversial new TV commercial by McDonalds - that features a gay teenager - has gone viral only days after its release, and RadarOnline.com has the spot that has people talking.

In the ad - which only airs in France - a teenage boy sits in a McDonald's booth, looking longingly at his class photo, when his cell phone rings. "I was just thinking about you," he says. "I miss you, too" he replies, and then says that he has to go because his dad is coming to the booth with their food.

The dad sits across from son and remarks that he was "quite the ladies' man" when he was his son's age. The father then looks at the class picture and remarks that "it's too bad" that his son's class is all boys. The son can only smile. ...

Darpa's Genetically Engineered Blood Starts Pumping

More troops than ever are surviving their battlefield injuries, often overloading the military's health care system. Massive blood shortages continue to plague military trauma care, and the problem is complicated by the remote, inaccessible locations of today's war zones. In 2008, Darpa, the Pentagon's blue-sky research arm, launched the Blood Pharming program, with the goal of manufacturing mega doses of universal-donor red blood units (O-negative) using a compact, self-contained system. "Pharming" is the process of genetically engineering animals or plants to generate mass quantities of medically useful substances, like hormones or antibodies. In this case, Darpa wants a synthetic platform that's engineered to cultivate blood cells. Now Arterioocyte, the Cleveland, OH biotech firm that got $1.95 million for the project, has sent off an initial shipment of their pharmed blood product to the Food and Drug Administration. It hopes to pass muster with agency's safety regulators. The blood was produced using hematopoietic cells, derived from embryonic cord-blood units. Currently, it takes Arterioocyte scientists three days to turn a single umbilical cord unit into 20 units of RBC-packed blood. The average soldier needs six units during trauma treatment.
