Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Forbidden Gates: How Genetics, Robotics, Artificial Intelligence, Synthetic Biology, Nanotechnology, & Human Enhancement Herald the Dawn of Techno-Dimensional Spiritual Warfare – Excerpts of Parts Four & Five

Part 4--Gregory Boyd in his book God at War: The Bible and Spiritual Conflict, explains: "It is therefore the responsibility of every believer to understand the need to put on "the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. " (Eph 6:11)... The general assumption of both the Old and New Testaments is that the earth is virtually engulfed by cosmic battle between good and evil, and that evil and suffering are ultimately due to the evil aspect of this diabolical siege.

In the tenth chapter of the Book of Daniel, the Bible lifts the curtain on this inter-dimensional activity in what is considered to be one of the most important scriptures having to do with spiritual warfare. This is where the prophet Daniel is found fasting and praying for twenty-one days. He had purposed to chasten himself before the Lord in hopes that God would bless him with a revelation of Israel's future. On the twenty-first day of his fast, while standing on the bank of the Tigris River, an angel suddenly appeared to him and said, "...from the first day that thou didst set thine heart to understand, and to chasten thyself before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words" (Dan. 10:12).

If a messenger was dispatched from heaven "from the first day," why did it take three weeks before he arrived? The angel provided the answer by explaining that a powerful Persian demon had opposed him for twenty-one days. Not until the archangel Michael came to assist in the battle was he free to continue his journey. The Book of Daniel also describes similar powers at work behind Babylon, Greece, and Rome, revealing an incredible tenet—that demons can control not only individuals, but entire societies on a territorial scale.

In Persian theology, the spirit that opposed Daniel and his angel would have been identified as Ahriman, whose legend closely parallels the biblical fall of Lucifer. According to Persian religion, Ahriman was the Death-dealer—the powerful and self-existing evil spirit, from whom war and all other evils had their origin. He was the chief of the cacodaemons, or fallen angels, expelled from heaven for their sins. After being kicked out of heaven, the cacodaemons endeavored to settle down in various parts of the earth and out of revenge found pleasure in tormenting the inhabitants of the earth. Ahriman and his followers finally took up their abode in the space between heaven and the earth and there established their domain, called Ariman-abad—the abode of Ahriman. From this location, the cacodaemons could intrude into and attempt to corrupt the governments of men.

Part 5--In 1918, famed occultist Aleister Crowley in attempting to discover how those evil emissaries discussed in the last entry could be extended from their kosmos into man's reality undertook to create a magical vortex that would span the gap between the world of the seen and the unseen. Crowley's ritual was called the Amalantrah Working and according to his records became successful when a presence manifested itself through the rift. He called this being "Lam" and drew a portrait of it. The startling image, detailed over ninety years ago, bears powerful similarity with "alien greys" of modern pop culture.

Nearly three decades after the Amalantrah Working, rocket scientist and cofounder of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Jack Parsons and his pal L. Ron Hubbard (Church of Scientology founder) conducted a second ritual called the "Babylon Working" in an attempt to reopen Crowley's gateway. These men were not looking for Lam. They wanted to incarnate the Whore of Babylon—a demon child or gibborim—through a portal during ritual sex. Parsons wrote that the ceremony was successful and that at one point a brownish/yellow light came through the doorway and something invisible struck him, knocking a candle out of his hand.

It is interesting to note that following Crowley's magic portal (which allegedly produced the alien-looking Lam) and Hubbard and Parson's Babylon Working ritual, Crowley died in 1947—the same year as the Roswell crash and the same year Kenneth Arnold saw his flying saucers and sightings of "aliens" increased around the world. Some believe this is evidence that a demonic portal was indeed breached by these men.

Gulf Loop Current Stalls from BP Oil Disaster: Global Consequences if Current Fails to Reorganize

Sterling D. Allan--Pure Energy Systems News--Sat, 28 Aug 2010--This could be the most significant man-caused Earth Changes news thus far in my lifetime. This morning, Leslie Pastor informed the New Energy Congress of a report by Your Own World USA that as of July 28,

Oceanographic satellite data now shows that the Loop Current in the Gulf of Mexico has stalled as a consequence of the BP oil spill [volcano] disaster. This according to Dr. Gianluigi Zangari, an Italian theoretical physicist, and 'major complex and chaotic systems analyst' at the Frascati National Laboratories in Italy.

He further notes that the effects of this stall have also begun to spread to the Gulf Stream. This is because the Loop Current is a crucial element of the Gulf Stream itself and why it is commonly referred to as the "main engine" of the Stream.

The concern now, is whether or not natural processes can re-establish the stalled Loop Current. If not, we could begin to see global crop failures as early as 2011.

Images of The Day After Tomorrow flashed in my head. The disruption of major ocean currents is no small thing. The climate ramifications are massive, worldwide.

The Gulf Loop is the current that loops up, to the right of the middle of the Gulf of Mexico then drops down to the left of Florida where it then passes below Florida into the Atlantic, where it contributes to the Gulf Stream, which passes up the east coast of the United States and Canada.

The Gulf Stream is what keeps the east coast of the U.S. as well as Britain and Europe more temperate, compared to what they would be without this warm current passing by.

After reading through the article, seeing its scientific backing, and discussion of the ramifications, I went to Google to see if this is getting mainstream press attention. A Google News search for "Loop Current" Stalled came up nada, nothing.

"How could that be?" I wondered. This is huge, and it's something that mainstream science and the mainstream press could easily verify and report.

I then placed a call to Paul Noel, who seems to always be up on things like this. I caught him in the middle of a family vacation event at a museum, so I was only able to speak with him for a couple of minutes, but he said that he had noticed that the current had stalled. "I check the loop current periodically", he said. He also said that a new phenomenon had cropped up on the beaches. Something about a "bathtub ring" of oil residue. I didn't catch how this was new, and he had to go.

So apparently, this is a breaking development that will most likely take a while to sink in, just as the initial BP rig fire and sinking and oil volcano took a while for people to realize its significance and impact. The people still living near the Gulf may yet be in denial as to the impact of the toxic fumes coming off the slick, poisoning their rain and crops and groundwater. Now the other shoe drops. The Loop Current stalls, and now the globe will feel the impact.

The mechanism by which the oil slick could lead to something like this could have to do with the changed viscosity of the water penetrated with oil to great depths due to the Corexit dispersant; and it could have to do with the darkened water attracting more solar heat, increasing its temperature.

Here is the rest of the story from Your Own World USA

The Gulf Blue Plague is Evolving - Part II: Corexit + Bacteria = Mutated Viruses

Source: <http://worldvisionportal.org/wvpforum/viewtopic.php?f=52&t=958>

by Michael Edward--If you haven't read The Gulf BLUE PLAGUE is Evolving or Gulf Oil Dispersant COREXIT is 11 Times More Lethal than Oil, you should do so in order to better understand what is being presented here. Both articles, along with others related to the Gulf time-bomb biological disaster, can be found at <http://worldvisionportal.org/wvpforum/viewforum.php?f=52> .

Without a doubt, the Gulf Blue Plague is evolving biologically as you will see factually set before you here. In all probability, this is the primary reason the mainstream media has been silenced, especially with regards to local media outlets along the Gulf Coast.

The Gulf of Mexico is a biological time bomb that is undoubtedly evolving into a chemically induced breeding ground for mutating viruses. All the aspects exist in the Gulf right now and have been established for over three months. Their ongoing manipulated evolution into a viral plague or viral epidemic is evident, yet has been ignored.

THE CATALYST: COREXIT DISPERSANT CHEMICALS

The most prevalent ingredient in Corexit is 2-Butoxyethanol. This compound chemical is especially toxic (poisonous) to the blood, kidneys, liver and the central nervous system of all mammals, including porpoises, whales, and humans. Corexit also ruptures red blood cells. Of and by itself, it causes cancer and birth defects. Oil mixed with Corexit is 11 times more lethal than oil alone.

The EPA eventually conceded that Corexit is a deadly toxic brew for 50% of any group of test animals that comes in contact with it.

Yet, despite the obvious inherent dangers of Corexit, it's being sprayed nightly by boats and aircraft in a foolish attempt to disperse the surface oil and continue with the ruse that the northern Gulf of Mexico is nothing to be concerned about any longer.

The problem with using Corexit, especially in the insane amounts that have already been applied, is that it has never been tested in such massive quantities; has never been tested for use on fragile ecosystem marshes; has never been tested for depths below 1,000 meters; and has never been tested for use with large quantities of bacteria, such as exist in great quantities in the Gulf of Mexico.

Gulf fishermen and shrimpers are now speaking out about having sighted graveyards of birds, fish, dolphins and whale corpses floating on the surface which are being secretly removed during the night by unknown third-party contracted vessels.

Chris Pinetich, a marine biologist and campaigner with the Sea Turtle Restoration Project, confirmed what Steve and others had told me: that Coast Guard planes were flying out at night spraying Corexit on the water and land. "People need to realize that their water, their air, the sand they are walking on, the things they are touching when they wake in the morning are coated with this stuff," he said. "We are producing an experiment in the Gulf the likes of which no one has ever seen. Top scientists admit that. We are all part of the experiment."

<http://counterpunch.org/mcclintock08232010.html>

Dr. Cake, along with commercial fishermen and Gulf Coast environmentalists, are drawing direct parallels to BP's oil disaster and the use of toxic dispersants as the likely cause of the increased numbers of fish kills they are witnessing.

"There are several parallels to the spill," Dr. Cake added. "We have evidence from fisherman operating in the VOO [Vessels of Opportunity] fleet and fishermen in the area who observed the spraying of dispersants by both aircraft and vessels in the immediate vicinity of the fish kills. Therein lies one triggering mechanism."

<http://www.ipsnews.net/news.asp?idnews=52627>

But far more important is that Corexit is mutagen when in the presence of bacteria, for which the Gulf of Mexico is a primary aquatic source.

Very few people really understand what a virus is or how it evolves. In the same respect, most don't comprehend what bacteria are... nor do they grasp what a cellular mutation is.

Bacteria are a large group of single cell microorganisms that grow to a fixed size and then reproduce through a form of asexual reproduction. Under optimal conditions, bacteria can grow and divide rapidly and some bacterial populations can double as quickly as every 9.8 minutes.

Most bacteria inherit identical copies of their parent's genes (they clone themselves).

However, all bacteria can evolve through changes made to their genetic material DNA caused by mutations. Mutations come from errors made during the replication of DNA or from exposure to mutagens (mutating agents), such as certain chemicals.

Despite their apparent simplicity, bacteria can also form complex associations with other organisms. If bacteria form a parasitic association, they are classed as pathogens. Pathogenic bacteria are a major cause of human death and disease.

Not all bacteria are bad as some are actually good for humans. Of the 400+ types of bacteria that live in the human digestive system, many are considered good bacteria - such as acidophilus - because they help the digestive system to do its job.

The modern word virus comes from the same Latin word which refers to poison and other noxious substances. Essentially, a virus is a poison and an imported toxic body. The origins of viruses are always conceived at a cellular level during the onset of their existence.

In the early 20th century, an English bacteriologist named Frederick Twort discovered a group of certain viruses that infect bacteria. These particular viral infected bacteria are now called bacteriophages or, simply, phages.

Bacteriophages are viruses that change the DNA of bacteria. Many types of bacteriophages exist. Some simply infect the host bacteria while others insert into and alter the bacterial chromosome.

Bacteriophages are a common and diverse group of viruses and are the most abundant form of biological entity in aquatic environments — there are up to ten times more of these viruses in the oceans than there are bacteria, reaching levels of 250,000,000 bacteriophages per milliliter of seawater.. <http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Virus>

What we're seeing in the Gulf of Mexico is a vast microorganism community of bacteriological viruses (bacteriophages) that are prime candidates for mutation if certain factors are present, such as mutagenic chemicals.

The word mutagen comes from Latin meaning origin of change. A mutagen is a physical or chemical agent that changes the genetic material of an organism. Because of this genetic change, it increases the frequency of mutations above the typical level.

Everything that causes a mutation is called a Mutating Agent or a Mutagen. There are three basic types of mutagens:

- 1) Chemical Mutagens – such as pesticides, benzene, methane, and many others.
- 2) Physics Mutagens – such as an ultraviolet ray or radioactivity.
- 3) Bio Mutagens – which are bacteria and viruses.

If the bacterial cell containing an integrated viral DNA is exposed to things, such as UV (ultraviolet) light, ionizing radiation, or chemical agents that cause mutation, the virus can become activated. Once activated, the mutated virus replicates, matures, and is released. Notice in this scenario all three growth factors for mutagens are present & these are the exact same conditions that now exist in billions of gallons of seawater in the gulf.

http://www.uiweb.uidaho.edu/micro\_biology/250/Week12.pdf

The above clearly outlines what happens when certain chemical compounds, such as those found in Corexit, are introduced to bacteria or viral bacteriophages. The result is a mutated virus that quickly duplicates itself, develops into maturity, and then discharges itself into the environment. A water environment discharge will become airborne due to high temperatures or as a result of storms.

Chemical mutagens have been proven to increase the rate of genetic and chromosomal abnormalities by as much as 100 times higher than the typical rate for spontaneous mutations. Simply said, the introduction of chemical agents “super-charges” the speed of mutation in a host organism.

<http://encyclopedia2.thefreedictionary.com/Virus%20mutation>

Corexit - and its many variant formulas – is what the US Federal Government and US

Department of Defense is spraying from boats and aircraft onto the surface of the Gulf of Mexico to “disperse” the oil. Many blame only BP for using Corexit, but the truth is that President Obama authorized the spraying and use of this dispersant in early May, 2010. That’s why military C-130 Hercules aircraft from the US Air Force and Coast Guard are involved along with private contractors – quasi-military mercenary corporations – spraying from their boats.

One of the ingredients in the deadly Corexit brew is Benzene. Of and by itself, this chemical is a volatile industrial solvent that comes from crude oil.

The short term breathing of high levels of benzene can result in death, while low levels can cause drowsiness, dizziness, rapid heart rate, headaches, tremors, confusion, and unconsciousness (a/k/a BP Flu or the Gulf Flu).

Human exposure to benzene is a global health problem. Benzene targets liver, kidney, lung, heart and the brain and can cause DNA strand breaks, chromosomal damage etc. Benzene causes cancer in both animals and humans.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Benzene>

If there was ever a perfect chemical agent to be classified as a super-mutagen, Benzene is it.

Just imagine what this chemical mutagen does to any bacteriophages (viral bacterium) it comes into contact with in the Gulf of Mexico. All it would take is one minuscule cluster of viral bacteria to become doused in Benzene - and the other mutagenic chemicals in Corexit - for a viral epidemic to evolve.

SO WHAT DOES ALLTHIS MEAN?

The Gulf of Mexico is a breeding ground for a pandemic viral plague primarily because of the chemical mutagens being dumped into the water in vast quantities that we may never be able to properly verify. The use of Corexit is no different than adding gasoline to a small fire. The explosive result is the same.

The Blue Gulf Plague may not just be evolving any longer. It may have already started to mature and replicate in immeasurable amounts.

All it will take for the Blue Gulf Plague to become a worldwide epidemic is for a minuscule cluster of viral infected bacteria to be immersed in a chemical mutagen, such as Corexit. The potential results could easily make the 1918 Spanish Flu look minor in comparison.

While those of us living on the Gulf Coast go about our daily lives, a time bomb is ticking louder and louder in the Gulf of Mexico. It’s not a matter of if there are mutant viruses present: It’s a matter of when that first cluster will spread – if it hasn’t started to already - and how fast it will become a pandemic of astronomical proportions.

We have sent our research and findings to private biology and virology experts for further verification. Water samples have been sent to a university laboratory outside of North America. All additional results will be published as soon as they are received.

EXCLUSIVE: Tests find sickened family has 50.3 ppm of Corexit's 2-butoxyethanol in swimming pool — JUST ONE HOUR NORTH OF TAMPA (lab report included)

AUGUST 30TH, 2010 **Exclusive* Credit: FloridaOilSpillLaw.com--* “Our heads are still swimming,” stated Barbara Schebler of Homosassa, Florida, who received word last Friday that test results on the water from her family’s swimming pool showed 50.3 ppm of 2-butoxyethanol, a marker for the dispersant Corexit 9527A used to break up and sink BP’s oil in the Gulf of Mexico.

Analyzed: 08/18-23/10 by KMG, VVK

The problems began for the Scheblers a few weeks after the April 20 blow-out. “Our first clue were rashes we both got early in May. Both my husband and I couldn’t get rid of the rashes and had to get cream from our doctor,” Schebler noted, “I never had a rash in my life.”

Then, on “July [23], my husband Warren mowed the lawn. It was hot so he got in the pool to cool off afterward. That afternoon he had severe diarrhea and very dark urine. This lasted about 2 days,” she revealed.

Initially, they reasoned this was caused by the heat. The following week Mr. Schebler again mowed the lawn and went in the pool, and again he was sickened with the same severe symptoms.

Suspicious that the pool may be a problem, the family set out to get the water tested.

The Scheblers found Robert Naman, a Mobile, Alabama chemist who’s performed multiple tests (1, 2, 3) for WKRG Channel 5, also out of Mobile.

“Warren collected a water sample from the pool filter on August 17th... packed the sample according to Mr. Naman’s instructions, and overnighted it to his Mobile, Ala. lab that same day,” she noted.

The results were delivered by Naman over the phone on August 27 at 11:00 a.m. EDT. A copy of the findings were then e-mailed to the Scheblers. To view the document, click here.

“Naman [said] our pool water sample we sent him contained 50.3 ppm [parts per million] 2-butoxyethanol marker for Corexit,” according to Mrs. Schebler. Tests for arsenic came back at less than .02 ppm.

A July letter from four top scientists noted, “Corexit 9527A contains 2-BTE (2-butoxyethanol), a toxic solvent that ruptures red blood cells, causing hemolysis (bleeding) and liver and kidney damage (Johanson and Bowman, 1991, Nalco, 2010).”

The safety data sheet provided by Nalco, the manufacturer of Corexit 9527A, warns, “Harmful if absorbed through skin. May be harmful if swallowed. May cause liver and kidney effects and/or damage. There may be irritation to the gastro-intestinal tract.”

Mr. Schebler’s “severe diarrhea and very dark urine” appear to indicate gastro-intestinal tract irritation.

BP Press Officer Daren Beaudou released a statement on August 28 that reads, “Unified Command records indicate that the last date of use of the Corexit 9527 was May 22,” almost three months before the samples were taken from the pool.

Yet, the Schebler’s report is the second time in the last 10 days that the 2-butoxyethanol marker for Corexit 9527A has been discovered near the Gulf. It has also been found near the Florida border in Cotton Bayou, AL, at about 1/4 the level as in Homosassa, FL. A WKRG segment from August 19 featured an inland water sample that tested for 13.3 ppm of the Corexit dispersant.

The question remains, how did this chemical find its way into the Schebler's pool in such a high concentration?

“At night we would hear very low aircraft, including helicopters. We figured they were just heading to help out in the Gulf,” and Mrs. Schebler added that she was told, “The prevailing winds from the Gulf are easterly — and when they spray, it is airborne — and that we are right in the path of those winds.” It was also noted that, “We had alot of rain here before my husband got sick, and wondered what was going on... We had been having daily downpours in July.”

Barack Obama just invited the United Nations to join his ongoing fight against Arizona and dozens of other states attempting to enforce the immigration laws that he refuses to enforce.

Unfortunately, you read that right. On August 20, the United States, for the first time ever, submitted a 29-page "Universal Periodic Review" (UPR) to the UN Human Rights Council, which outlines a laundry list of human rights abuses allegedly committed by the ## United States.

Contained within that laundry list of so-called abuses is a direct condemnation of S.B. 1070, legislation enacted by the state of Arizona (and supported by an overwhelming majority of the American people), which seeks to do the job that the federal government has refused to do... secure the border.

Specifically, the Obama Administration wrote in the report: "A recent Arizona law, S.B. 1070, has generated significant attention and debate at home and around the world. The issue is being addressed in a court action that argues that the federal government has the authority to set and enforce immigration law. That action is ongoing; parts of the law are currently enjoined."

The submission of this UPR is the first step in a United Nations review process which will culminate with the issuance of a plan of action, approximately 90 days from now, from a panel of UN bureaucrats from France, Japan and Cameroon.

At that point, the United States would be expected to "voluntarily" comply with the panel's recommendations, but as the UN Human Rights Council states on its website: "The Human Rights Council will decide on the measures it would need to take in case of persistent non-cooperation by a State..."

In short, Barack Obama has upped the ante. Not content with simply filing a frivolous federal suit against the people of Arizona, Obama has transformed his amnesty feud with the American people into an international human rights cause and effectively placed the people of Arizona (and other states that are considering similar border security bills) under the jurisdiction of a gang of America-hating United Nations bureaucrats.

Or alternatively, send your urgent Blast Faxes to each and every Member of the United States Senate and the United States House of Representatives. That's over 530 faxes.*

Tell them, in no uncertain terms, that President Obama has gone too far and that his latest attempt to sic the United Nations on Arizona, the 22 others states considering similar immigration enforcement legislation and the people of the United States is an affront to our national sovereignty that cannot be tolerated.

Tell them to stand up to President Obama and secure the border now.

Obama wants global judgment on U.S.

Gives U.N. report that is expected to be 'cannon fodder' for critics

August 30, 2010--By Stewart Stogel--WorldNetDaily --UNITED NATIONS – The Obama administration recently turned in the Universal Periodic Review report for the United States to the UN's international body's Human Rights Council.

The 29-page document constituted the first time the U.S. had submitted a document to that U.N. panel.

Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer in a letter to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton, she said, "The idea of our own American government submitting the duly enacted laws of a state of the United States for review by the United Nations is internationalism run amok and is unconstitutional."

In the war on terrorism, Obama said it will treat al-Qaida as a state with full legal standing. Other subjects addressed included education, employment and Indian affairs.

Officials with the U.S. State Department said the submission of the report is just the first step: the next will be a "formal presentation" by the U.S. government explaining to the panel at a Human Rights Council meeting in Geneva.

"Aside from the [Obama] administration's obvious self-aggrandizement (President Obama is referred to over 20 times in the 25-page report, and his health care reform is credited with vast achievements that have yet to be realized, if they ever will)," the report said.

The Obama administration said the chance "to discuss with our citizenry and with fellow members of the Human Rights Council our accomplishments, challenges, and vision for the future" is good. "We welcome observations and recommendations that can help us on that road to a more perfect union." <http://www.wnd.com/?pageId=197381>

Obama Secret Plan for November Victory

August 30, 2010, 08:51 PM--www.capoliticalnews.com

The Obama/Democrat secret plan to win in November has become public. He will allow illegal aliens to vote, by "mistake".

"As Matt Mayer vividly describes in a new Heritage Web Memo, the Obama administration is implementing a de facto amnesty that will allow the vast majority of illegal aliens to remain in the United States without being disturbed by the Department of Homeland Security or any attempts to deport them. The administration is apparently extending no prosecution of illegal voting by noncitizens and a green light to becoming a citizen even if you have violated federal law."

"The FOX story cites immigration advocates claiming that illegal voting can be an honest mistake. The director of the Immigration Advocates Network says that a lot of people are truly very unaware about not being eligible to vote. Really?! The official federal voter registration form available, here, asks you at the top of the form in its very first question (even before you fill in your name): Are you a citizen of the United States of America ? In the signature block on the form, it specifically asks you to swear/affirm that: I am a United State citizen.

Honest mistake? What a joke. It is a felony. As long as President Obama occupies (and that is the correct word) the White House, criminals from other nations will control our jobs, streets and money.

This is why we need regime change on November 2. Our President has told the United Nations that Arizona is racist. It looks like he has lost his moral and ethical compass (He never had one).

Correction on Last Report

drjohnson@ix.netcom.com writes: In the Snopes rebuttal you will see that it is not denying the décor of Obama, it is denying that there was a stars and stripes background with other recent presidents in the Oval office (which is true). The décor (which is authentic) in this picture of Obama (it was taken in the East room (not the Oval office) on May 27th 2010 regarding the Gulf crisis). The Snopes article does admit there were no flags in the East Room during this picture but personally I have never seen such a middle Eastern décor with any president. So to deny that there is no truth to this information is going way to far whereas things do need to be clarified and I will try to do this in the next teaching. Snopes is many times nothing more a disinformation source itself. They are no Gold Standard and I do not trust them. God bless!

'Islamization' of Paris a Warning to the West

By Dale Hurd--CBN News Sr. Reporter--Wednesday, September 01, 2010

PARIS - Friday in Paris. A hidden camera shows streets blocked by huge crowds of Muslim worshippers and enforced by a private security force.

This is all illegal in France: the public worship, the blocked streets, and the private security. But the police have been ordered not to intervene.

It shows that even though some in the French government want to get tough with Muslims and ban the burqa, other parts of the French government continue to give Islam a privileged status.

An ordinary French citizen who has been watching the Islamization of Paris decided that the world needed to see what was happening to his city. He used a hidden camera to start posting videos on YouTube. His life has been threatened and so he uses the alias of "Maxime Lepante. "

Will Focus on the Family and The Truth Project Warn About “Unio Mystica,” “Oneness,” and Contemplative Prayer?

There are concerns about why in Lesson 8 of the Truth Project, Del Tackett uses the term “unio mystica” and “oneness.” If Christian leaders are going to use these terms (terms that frequently and usually are used by the New Age/New Spirituality), then these Christian leaders should take care to educate their followers of Satan’s devices and the New Spirituality deception that is so prevalent with the evangelical church today. It may seem petty to some, but using such terms can, even if unknowingly, condition Christians to be more accepting of the concepts. Focus on the Family has not shown itself to be a ministry that takes spiritual deception serious in that they have and do continue to promote contemplative spirituality, a spirituality that fits right in with the New Age terms of unio mystica and oneness.

One website describes how contemplative prayer is synonymous with unio mystical: [quote] Contemplative prayer helps to calm the mind and cultivate inner silence. It seeks to reach a non-conceptual, loving awareness of the Divine. Its ultimate aim is the unio mystica, the divine union in which the human soul gets merged in the Godhead.

http://meditation-

techniques.suite101.com/article.cfm/contemplative\_prayer#ixzz0xwVSqITR

The question remains, will Focus on the Family and Del Tackett ever warn their listeners? Or will they keep talking about unio mystical and oneness without issuing a strong warning to the body of Christ. Will they continue to promote contemplative advocates like Gary Thomas and Richard Foster? Ironically, the title of Tackett's website article is called "A Silent Killer in the House" (referring to carbon monoxide). Well, there is a "silent" killer in the church. It is called contemplative prayer.

Glenn Beck Warning

Dear Scott,

We are currently watching the Restoring Honor rally in DC at the Lincoln Memorial this morning....not to mention that it is right near the Washington Obelisk..! We have some concerns with Beck and his real agenda.

Although he seems to have "some" good things that he brings out. We were shocked to hear the invocation prayer at the beginning (not sure who the man was). He prayed and although much of his prayer sounded on the surface to be "ok" , we had great concern when he kept saying "gods" ....not just once (at first we thought he miss-spoke) but probably 8 times through the prayer! We were sickened. He also prayed accompanied by a several native Americans (shamans, Rabbi, Baptist preacher) like they were all together.

Also great concern that Liberty University is really supportive of this "movement". They had bus loads of students go up for the rally as announced by Jerry Falwell,Jr, Wednesday at the LU convocation that is available at the LU website to watch. The Liberty University praise team (The Sounds of Liberty) sang at the start of the rally....they were not named, but we live in the Lynchburg area so know who they are. Jerry Falwell Jr....is really on board with Beck from his own mouth and all his appearances on Glen's show.....Beck spoke at the May 2010 LU Graduation as the keynote speaker.

Lots of other concerns as we listen to this rally....one of the Afro-American speakers (preacher C.L. King, we think ) just announced that Glenn Beck was the son of God! WOW.....crazy stuff!

Just wondering, if you might want to look into this and address it in an upcoming teaching. Is Glenn Beck the next Rick Warren...??? Mixing a little truth with lies....and promoting his Mormon faith as Christian.

Thought you might want to hear this prayer...if you have not already. Beck introduces him as "Pastor Paul Jail" (not sure how he spells his last name)..... This "pastor" is the one who does the invocation prayer at the rally.....Using "gods" about 8 times. Link below.

Play and end at 5:43: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=47V-dpiLM78>

Praying for you and your family.....

In 2009, without any basis whatsoever, Glenn Beck falsely stated that the Holocaust museum shooter, James W. von Brunn, was a "hero" to people who question the official story of 9/11– a transparently deliberate attempt to associate the Truth movement with violence.

Watch: Glenn Beck's True Colors

Even in non-political settings and non-9/11 related issues Beck has shown contempt for average people he considers himself superior to. A good example of this is an old segment on his radio show called "Moron Trivia" in which he would call convenience stores and ask the beleaguered workers there trivial questions about current issues while secretly ridiculing them to his audience. Though Glenn Beck gleefully pretended he was doing the cruel segment against his own will, the fact is that if he truly didn't want to do it, he wouldn't have. It's much like a sadistic husband beating his wife, all the while voicing his regret over what her actions are making him do.

God, the Gospel, and Glenn Beck

Dr. Russell Moore - 8/30/2010--A Mormon television star stands in front of the Lincoln Memorial and calls American Christians to revival. He assembles some evangelical celebrities to give testimonies, and then preaches a God and country revivalism that leaves the evangelicals cheering that they've heard the gospel, right there in the nation's capital.

The news media pronounces him the new leader of America's Christian conservative movement, and a flock of America's Christian conservatives have no problem with that. If you'd told me that ten years ago, I would have assumed it was from the pages of an evangelical apocalyptic novel about the end-times. But it's not. It's from this week's headlines. And it is a scandal.

2Cor 6:14 Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?

2Cor 6:15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?

2Cor 6:16 And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in [them]; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

2Cor 6:17 Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean [thing]; and I will receive you,

2Cor 6:18 And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.

Fox News commentator Glenn Beck, of course, is that Mormon at the center of all this. The Mormon doctrine of God does not correspond to the Christian doctrine of the Trinity. The Mormon doctrine of God includes many gods, not one. Mormon doctrine also teaches that Satan and Jesus Christ are brothers. Furthermore,

Mormonism teaches that we are what God once was and are becoming what He now is. That is in direct conflict with Christian orthodoxy.

Contemporary Mormonism presents the Book of Mormon as "another testament of Jesus Christ," but the Jesus of the Book of Mormon is not the only begotten Son of God, the second person of the Trinity, or the one through whose death on the cross we can be saved from our sins.

See Dr. Johnson's Teaching: Mormonism Exposed!

Beck (in and of himself) isn't the real problem though. He's an entrepreneur and he knows his market (see video news report). What concerns me here is not what this says about Beck or the "Tea Party" or any other entertainment or political figure. What concerns me is about what this says about the Christian churches in the United States.

Too often, and for too long, American "Christianity" has been a political agenda in search of a gospel useful enough to accommodate it. Leaders will always be tempted to bypass the problem behind the problems like captivity to sin & bondage to demonic powers. That's why so many of our Christian 'superstars' smile at crowds of thousands, reassuring them that they don't like to talk about sin. That's why other Christian celebrities are seen to be courageous for fighting their culture wars, while they carefully leave out the sins most likely to be endemic to the people paying the bills in their movements.

Where there is no true gospel, false gospels will fill the void. The prophet Isaiah warned us of such conspiracies replacing the Word of God centuries ago (Is. 8:12-20).

Mormonism, Judaism, Shamanism and Mammonism are contrary to the gospel of Jesus Christ. They offer another Lord Jesus than the One offered in the Scriptures and Christian tradition, and another way to approach him. An embrace of these tragic new vehicles is a betrayal of the true Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Any "revival" that is possible without the Lord Jesus Christ is a "false revival".

The ultimate answer includes local churches that preach the gospel of Jesus Christ, and disciple their congregations to know the difference between the kingdom of God and the latest political whim. Dominionism

To Glenn Beck: Same-sex marriage is a threat to the Republic - and to kids

8/30/2010--By Bryan Fischer--Glenn Beck veered disastrously off-course on the Bill O'Reilly program two weeks ago when he said that same-sex marriage is not "a threat to the country.”

It's a threat to freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of association, and worst, represents a clear and present danger to children.

A 74-year-old grandmother was dragged off to jail in Philadelphia for standing on a public sidewalk and quietly declaring the truth about homosexuality. She was facing 47 years in prison until cooler heads prevailed.

A student at Augusta State University has just been thrown out of the school's counseling program - with the approval of a federal judge, no less - because she believes that homosexual relationships are unnatural. Her opportunity to pursue the career of her choice in a helping profession has now been shot to pieces. What about her, Glenn?

If special rights are given to people just because they are sodomites, no person will be able to criticize homosexual behavior on Biblical or moral grounds without running the risk of legal punishment.

Goodbye freedom of speech and goodbye freedom of religion. You, Glenn, will have aided and abetted those who are out to destroy two of the inalienable rights God has given to men, and you don't think that's a threat to this country?

We must choose between the homosexual agenda and religious liberty, because it is impossible to have both. Every advance of the homosexual agenda comes at the expense of our first liberty, the very first right enshrined in the Bill of Rights, the right to freedom of religious expression. You have chosen the side of suppression and tyranny over the light of liberty.

You announced the formation of a new "Black-Robed Regiment" to call this nation out of spiritual darkness. At the "Divine Destiny" event, you rebuked the churches in American for having "grown soft," and rightly declared that they need "backbone and spine" in order to respond to the people who are "begging for right and wrong."

But you just told Bill O'Reilly that losing our way on a fundamental issue of "right and wrong" - marriage and the family - does not represent a threat to our country because we have "bigger fish to fry." What exactly is this "Black-Robed Regiment" going to say on human sexuality, if you have disarmed them before they've fired their first salvo?

Perhaps worse, you seem cavalier about the devastating impact homosexual marriage will have on children, who will be adopted haphazardly into homes having either two mommies or two daddies. What an abomination!!
