

End Time Current Events-8-7-17

Dr. Johnson's Main Website at: <http://contendingfortruth.com/>

Alternate Site: <http://contendingforfaith.com/>

Email: drjohnson@ix.netcom.com

Free Gift: Salvation & the TRUE Gospel/Good News!

Table of Contents:

- ++ Faith In The Crosshairs: The Globalist Plan To Eradicate Christianity
- Burning Man 2017 Festival To Celebrate Evil With 'Radical Rituals' And A New Temple For HIS Occult Religion
- The roof came down on a prosperity Church killing at least 160 people
- ++ Pope Admits Priests Have Raped Thousands of Children Without Punishment
- Recently received this from a listener about a beyond sick Pedophile "Children's Book"
- Angel from hell: Nun is arrested for helping five priests 'sexually abuse' dozens of deaf children at Argentinian Catholic school
- Listener Comment: Also for all the Baptists that believe that there is no way a Baptist can be yoked up with Catholics look at the links below

Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Faith In The Crosshairs: The Globalist Plan To Eradicate Christianity

The term global governance refers to the political dimension of globalization. Here the question is to what degree governance will be centralized and controlled by international institutions in ways that threaten to diminish national and local governmental capacity.

Global governance advocates tend to prefer both transnational regulation of markets and the creation of new human rights norms marked by increased centralization.

In the latter sense, global governance can imply much more than simple international coordination and cooperation, which has existed throughout modern international relations. Now it is also a deeply and widely embedded ideology that seeks global centralization and regulation of wide-reaching areas of international interaction. It is believed and advanced by its devotees with an almost religious zeal. Among these devotees are (1) university professors and teachers at all levels, (2) nongovernmental organization professionals, (3) international lawyers, (4) journalists, (5) increasingly large numbers of elected and appointed governmental leaders and officials, (6) international civil servants, (7) celebrities and cultural elites, and (8) experts in the United Nations and other intergovernmental organizations. If this growing and increasingly influential body of believers simply wanted to resolve pressing international problems, its effects would be largely unobjectionable.

Globalists, as they were once called, and global governance advocates, as they are now often known, call for much more, however. Global governance ideology aims at eroding and eliminating national sovereignty by reducing national governmental control over the movement of people, goods, services, and capital across national boundaries. It seeks to establish an entirely secular order in which activities such as education, health care, economic development, and justice are fashioned by global experts rather than by the leaders in their natural local and national contexts. Rule by experts, by global bureaucrats, is regarded as the ideal.

These experts in turn share a common set of outlooks about the world. They are secularists who are at best suspicious of but often outright hostile to religion and traditional culture as influences on civilization. They are bureaucrats or advocates of bureaucracy who believe that government by expert rather than by elected officials is the only way to advance a progressive agenda of modernization. They are environmentalists who, to varying degrees, regard human beings and human population growth as a scourge on global ecology. They are thus almost universally population-control advocates who regard the family, especially the traditional family and the religious beliefs of families, as a threat to environmental integrity. Often they are eugenicists who wish to reduce the fertility of less desirable peoples. They are transnationalists who believe that the nation-state is an anachronistic cultural construct in need of deconstruction. They are generally advocates of gender plasticity who seek in the name of human rights to promote global redefinition of masculinity and femininity and thus a redefinition of the human person and of marriage as a normative basis of family life. They are materialists who ultimately deny the transcendent spiritual nature of human beings and who thus are concerned almost exclusively about the physical and emotional needs of people. They are relativists who generally reject the concept of objective moral truth, of natural law, or of the religious and spiritual dimensions of the human person. They regard power and control as the mechanisms by which to remake the world in their own image. They are centralists who have little regard for the rights of subsidiary bodies, local agencies of mutual aid and support, churches, local governments, or even national governments that wish to preserve their distinctive ways of life.

The traditional teachings of Christianity, rooted in the gospel of Jesus Christ, are a major target for advocates of global governance. They have adopted the mantle of peace, justice, human rights, and humanitarian advocacy—the social gospel of the Church—but have systematically attacked the Church as an institution, the traditional family and traditional moral values, and love of country and love of God. They seek to supplant the Church's historical role in the provision of corporal works of mercy. They are opponents of religious liberty and even of freedom of conscience.

This sinister version of global governance is a sign of our times. It is fed at an ever-increasing rate by the globalization of electronic communication. The internet and social media—in their own rights great boons to modern life—too often foster antihuman agendas from internet pornography and sexual abuse to global criminal syndicalism and transnational terrorist recruitment and advocacy. The Church must be aware of the ideological movements at work under the guise of secular humanism and progressive liberalism. Global governance ideology is the intellectual stepchild of Marxist materialist thought. In an age of actual globalization, it is the reigning worldview of elites. The Church therefore must understand it and resist its most sinister goals by serving as a sign of contradiction; by cooperating with international institutionalization where it is most justified; and by opposing it when it violates basic human dignity, the subsidiary rights of the Church, and the imbedded agents of mutual aid and support on which local communities depend.

I Corinthians 16:13: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

I Thessalonians 5:6: "Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober."

Ephesians 5:11-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret. (Comment: In other words we don't need to get into the gory details of their sin done "in secret" but at the same time we are commanded in the previous and following verses to "reprove" and "manifest" their wicked actions. See the definition below of "reprove" & "manifest".) But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. (Comment: "Light" always overcomes and exposes darkness) Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Manifest: Plain, open, clearly visible to the eye or obvious to the understanding; apparent; not obscure or difficult to be seen or understood.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Psalm 94:16&20: "Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity?...Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with thee, which frameth mischief by a law?"

\(READ MORE\)

Burning Man 2017 Festival To Celebrate Evil With 'Radical Rituals' And A New Temple For HIS Occult Religion

December 11, 2016 by SkyWatch Editor

\(READ MORE\)

Burning Man, the Nevada desert festival that draws some 60,000 revelers every year, is an annual pilgrimage that resembles religious ritual: It requires travel to a far-off place in the desert, 10 guiding social laws intended to catalyze self-actualization, and the burning of an effigy.

Yesterday (December 6) the festival's co-founder Larry Harvey made clear that Burning Man is now closer to becoming a religion than ever before. In a blogpost, he announced that the 2017 theme would be "Radical Ritual," writing that "beyond the dogmas, creeds, and metaphysical ideas of religion, there is immediate experience. It is from this primal world that living faith arises. In 2017, we will invite participants to create interactive rites, ritual processions, elaborate images, shrines, icons, temples, and visions."

Harvey explained that for the first time, the effigy for which Burning Man is named would be enclosed in a temple structure and reach up toward the sky with a spire: "Passing through the spine of Burning Man, this axis will continue upward, emerging high above the temple as a golden spire. Participants are invited to contribute to this shrine, and to the hundred niches that will penetrate the temple's walls."

Halloween, Human Sacrifice, Stonehenge and the Wicker Man-Part 1
By Dr. Scott Johnson |
October 21, 2007

Halloween, Human Sacrifice, Stonehenge and the Wicker Man 10/21/07 In this teaching we will be taking an extensive, shocking look at virtually all the Halloween traditions modern day humanity currently embraces. Halloween is not just innocent entertain...

Read More

Halloween, Human Sacrifice, Stonehenge and the Wicker Man-Part 2

By Dr. Scott Johnson | October 21, 2007

While some Burners (the shorthand term for Burning Man attendees) praised the festival theme, there has been pushback. Here are a few from the comments section under Harvey's announcement:

Moralcompasthatpointstowardsin says: December 6, 2016 at 12:36 pm

Moving the man into a temple seems like the next logical next step to create a new-age religion. Can we have a separation between church and my burn please?

Burning Man began in 1986 on Baker Beach in San Francisco. It started as a get-together among friends and members of the anarchist Cacophony Society. As the event moved to the Nevada desert and became more mainstream, it became a draw for celebrities and tech billionaires.

Against that backdrop, perhaps Harvey's theme is intended to bring about a cohesiveness again amidst recent years' angst. When everyone subscribes to the same religion, there's at least a common bond.

The roof came down on a prosperity Church killing at least 160 people

The roof of a church collapsed in southern Nigeria, killing at least 160 people, with the death toll likely to rise, according to the Associated Press.

160 people died and perished, as they listen to a false prosperity teacher, misusing the name of "Jesus".

The outlet reports that the Reigners Bible Church International in the city of Uyo was still under construction when workers began rushing to finish it in time for Saturday's ceremony to ordain founder Akan Weeks as a bishop.

Weeks, a prosperity preacher, escaped unhurt, as did state governor Udom Emmanuel. A crane is being used to lift debris believed to be hiding the bodies of more victims, according to the report.

Akan Weeks had invited his followers to enthrone him as bishop, when the roof came down.

“There were trapped bodies, parts of bodies, blood all over the place and people’s handbags and shoes scattered,” witness Ukeme Eyibio said.

Eyibio, who escaped injury because he was making a phone call from his car, reportedly heard what he thought was a bomb, and then saw that “the church had disappeared,” he told the AP.

Source: The Rooth.com

My comment:
Jesus the Messiah warns us about copy-cats. Also Paul the Apostle warns us about “Christians” who would come and preach a different “Jesus”.

There are many false Messiahs around us today. One of them is the “Prosperity-Jesus”. Be aware of false apostles who start the conversation by saying “God wants to prosper you”.

This kind of “god” wanted to prosper Jesus the Messiah too. The true Son of God was lead into the desert to be tempted by Satan. In a similar way, falls teachers what to lead you into temptation, and become a friend of the World. Resist them, and expose them.

TOOLS Mat 4:8 ¶Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them;

TOOLS Mat 4:9 And saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me.

TOOLS Mat 4:10 ¶Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

Do not give into their falsehood for a second. Or you might be the next to face God’s wrath and swift destruction.

¶ But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.

Unfortunately, millions of people are so royally deceived, that not even when the roof comes down, they will be able to listen and repent.

In Matthew 7: 21-23, there is a stern warning to this kind of claimed “born again Christians”. The true Son of God replied to their claim of having done a lot in His name: “I never knew you”.

Please repent, if you are one of those who share the false prosperity gospel. If you do not repent, you will surely perish.

Please read this article, and be aware of the most common false teachings in the Church.

May Jesus of the Bible have mercy on your soul, and my soul too. Amen.

<https://ivarfield.com/2016/12/12/the-roof-came-down-on-prosperity-church/>

++ Pope Admits Priests Have Raped Thousands of Children Without Punishment

Have you ever asked yourself why it has been decades now since the Catholic church has truly punished any high-profile sex scandals involving pedophile priests?

Apparently, it's because they're doing their best to keep it quiet, at least until now.

According to FoxNews,

“Pope Francis acknowledged Saturday that the Vatican has a 2,000-case backlog in processing clerical sex abuse cases and says criticism of the slow pace was justified. But he says more staff are being added and insists the Vatican is ‘on the right path.’”

For victims of the alleged abuse, “on the right path” probably translates into, “we’re doing nothing about it.”

For the Catholic Church, arguably the largest religious organization on the planet, to know about 2,000 cases of alleged pedophilia in its ranks, and to be doing nothing about it, may be as egregious as the heinous acts themselves.

The renewed pressure on the Catholic Church, and specifically the Vatican, stems from the resignation of Marie Collins, an Irish pedophile-priest-sex-abuse-survivor who resigned in March from Pope Francis’ sex abuse advisory commission.

Collins said she quit because her commission, formulated to root out pedophile priests was being met with, in her words, “unacceptable” levels of resistance from the Vatican. In other words, they were ignoring the recommendations set forth by the investigative and reform group.

Speaking with reporters on his plane, Francis said of Collins, she’s “a great woman” and was “a bit right” about her criticisms. “Marie Collins was right on that point. But we are on the right path, as there were 2,000 cases backlogged,” he said.

Did you catch that? There are at least 2,000 more cases, assumed to be previously absent from the high-profile now decades-old scandals of the 80's and 90's.

FoxNews wrote: "Francis didn't respond to the other issues raised by Collins, including the refusal of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith — which handles abuse cases — to create a tribunal to judge bishops who covered up for pedophile priests. It's safe to say, with the departure of one of the leading figures comprising the advisory board, that the Catholic church is stalling.

Instead of taking down the pedophiles, and turning them over to authorities for prosecution, they're simply content on maintaining a 2,000 case backlog. The church's inaction on pedophilia may signal to some critics as well as survivors of pedophile priest abuses, that the emotional development of its children is of little concern to the church, who some have said are protecting pedophiles instead of rooting them out from among their ranks.

It's unclear if the latest revelations that the church is still doing nothing will further drive Catholic Church members into Evangelical abuse and Protestant churches, but in our opinion, doing nothing about the backlog is just as bad as pedophilia itself.

Comment: The Keepers is a 7-episode American documentary web series that was released on May 19, 2017.^{[1][2][3]} The series explores the unsolved murder of the nun Sister Cathy Cesnik who taught English and drama at Archbishop Keough High School, and how her former students believe that there was a cover up by authorities after Cesnik suspected that the priest at the school, A. Joseph Maskell, was guilty of sexual abuse.^{[4] [5]} http://humansarefree.com/2017/05/pope-admits-priests-have-raped.html?utm_campaign=shareaholic&utm_medium=facebook&utm_source=socialnetwork&m=0

++ Recently received this from a listener about a beyond sick Pedophile "Children's Book"

heartprogress1

Now THIS is true love. Whoever this boy is, I applaud him for sharing his story of a wonderful consenting man/boy relationship and, most importantly, being tolerant of his counterpart for who he is. This is what LGBTQIAP+ is all about!

Angel from hell: Nun is arrested for helping five priests 'sexually abuse' dozens of deaf children at Argentinian Catholic school

By Timothy Duncan For Dailymail.com and Associated Press

6 May 2017 |

A Roman Catholic nun from Japan has been arrested and charged on suspicion of helping priests sexually abuse children at a school for youths with hearing disabilities in Argentina.

Kosaka Kumiko, 42, was charged with helping the priests with anal and vaginal rapes, fondling and oral sex, which were allegedly committed in the bathrooms, dormitories, garden and a basement at the school in Lujan de Cuyo, a city about 620 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

The case against Kumiko began after a former student accused her of making her wear a diaper to cover up a hemorrhage after she was allegedly raped by priest Horacio Corbacho.

'I am innocent,' she told judicial officials, who ordered her to be taken into custody at a local women's prison while detectives investigate the alleged crimes.

The nun, who has Argentine citizenship, has also been charged with physically abusing the students - whose torments could only be heard by those abusing them since the other children were deaf - at the Antonio Provolo Institute for children with hearing impairment in northwestern Mendoza province.

But she denied any wrongdoing during an eight-hour court hearing late Thursday.

She was shown being led by police in handcuffs, and wearing her habit and a bullet-proof vest.

At least 24 students from the Provolo Institute came forward to << accuse Horacio Corbacho (left) and fellow priest Nicola Corradi (pictured in wheelchair). The pair were arrested last year after they were charged with sexually abusing at least two dozen students at the Provolo Institute. Horacio Corbacho is pictured with a cross on a wall behind him. The children said the two Roman Catholic priests continuously raped them, beside the image of the Virgin Mary.

Police arrested the five accused men last November, finding a slew of pornographic magazines and about $34,000 in Corradi's room.

'They always said it was a game: "Let's go play, let's go play" and they would take us to the girls' bathroom,' one of the women who was abused at the Argentine school alleged.

They are being held at a jail in Mendoza and have not spoken publicly since their arrest.

If found guilty, the accused face up to 50 years in prison.

Corradi had earlier been accused in Italy of abusing students at the Provolo Institute in Verona, a notorious school for the deaf where hundreds of children are believed to have been sexually assaulted over the years by two dozen priests and religious brothers.

Advocates for clerical sex abuse have expressed anger that Corradi wasn't sanctioned by the Vatican and allegedly went on to abuse children in Pope Francis' native Argentina.

<<The nun denied any wrongdoing during an eight-hour court hearing late Thursday

Three school employees, Jorge Bordon, Jose Luis Ojeda and Armando Gomez, were also arrested and remain in custody. Investigators are looking into more than 30 testimonies against the priests and teaching staff.

TIMELINE OF ALLEGED ABUSE OF 'HUNDREDS OF CHILDREN' AT THE PROVOLO INSTITUTE

2009: Abuse at the Provolto Institute - which also has a branch in Italy - was first brought to light. Several students came forward and named and accused priests, including Corradi, who has been names again for abusing children in the Argentine Branch of the institute

2010: Vatican ordered its northern Italy branch - the Verona diocese - to investigate the claims

2012: the Vatican apologized and sent the results of the investigation to the victims. Four of the accused priests were sanctioned while a fifth was exempted because he had Alzheimers. The priests who were sanctioned were ordered to live a life of prayer and penance and were under supervision, away from children, the Associated Press reported in 2016

2014: The students penned a letter, naming Corradi - who was now in the Pope's native Argentina - but they received no response

2016: According to the Associated Press, a Vatican official said Pope Francis wanted to assure the victims that the church was taking steps to tackle the continuous sexual abuse. In December 2016, he used sign language while delivering his Christmas message, which fell on deaf years in Argentina as the controversy was unfolding

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-4480530/Nun-arrested-helping-priests-rape-deaf-kids.html?printingPage=true>

Listener Comment: Also for all the Baptists that believe that there is no way a Baptist can be yoked up with Catholics look at the links below

<https://www.oikoumene.org/en/member-churches> this is the world council of churches website with all its members

<https://nationalcouncilofchurches.us/member-communions/>

The WCC is a fellowship of 348 member churches who together represent more than half a billion Christians around the world.

WCC member churches can be found in all regions of the world and include most of the world's Orthodox churches (Eastern and Oriental), as well as African Instituted, Anglican, Assyrian, Baptist, Evangelical, Lutheran, Mennonite, Methodist, Moravian, Old-Catholic, Pentecostal, Reformed, United/Uniting and Free/Independent churches, Disciples of Christ and Friends (Quakers).

Member Communions - National Council of Churches

These 38 member communions come together in covenant community as the National Council of Churches to offer common witness to Jesus Christ and to share in a ministry ...

2Co
6:14

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?

We need to draw the line in the sand as Christians.
