+1+ It's An Invasion Force! When Does 15K Mexican Troops Become 50K?

Wednesday, June 26, 2019--I have been told by many military and intel experts and it is a simple matter of common sense, that before a Red Dawn invasion can take place, the United States must first be destabilized domestically. Further, assets would need to be deployed in advance of any invasion. All of the criteria are in the process of being met.

The destabilizing events that threaten to weaken America to the point of producing conditions making the country vulnerable to invasion from our southern border are as follows:

- 1. Worsening conditions in Central and South America, emanating from Honduras, which will potentially send millions of immigrants to our border along with embedded trained paramilitary forces.
- 2. The Oroville Dam is slowly progressing toward a catastrophic failure.
- 3. The trucking industry is moving toward a meltdown and this will serious consequences to every aspect of our economy and it will ultimately threaten scores of lives.
- 4. War with Iran will produce the emergence of terror cells which will wreak havoc in the United States.
- 5. Weather wars are producing an agricultural disaster with regard to the food supply.

A clear picture is emerging that once the aforementioned areas come to fruition, that the only thing that is needed for an invasion to follow these destabilizing events is forward deployment of military assets and that has already happened. The Mexican military has authorized a forward deployment of 15,000 soldiers on our southern border ostensibly to intercept immigrants coming to the United States. On its face, this makes no sense. These troops, as described in a Washington Post article published on April 9, 2019, stated that the UNITED NATIONS was training the force which was designed to replace the Federales.

The stated purpose of the training was for “humanitarian” purposes. The bulk of the immigrants are coming from south of Mexico and that is where troops should be deployed. Here is a detailed analysis of what is wrong and very suspicious about the Mexican approach to this issue. I believe is not an immigration force but an invasion force. When do 15,000 Mexican troops become 50,000 troops? They have already crossed our border and most of all they are being trained by the UN as documented in the Washington Post (April 9, 2019).

Before one may accuse me of being "too conspiratorial", please keep in mind that I previously published a leaked statistic from a memo provided to DHS, ICE and the Border Patrol. In the last 30 days, immigrants from 52 countries have been apprehended on our southern border. The entire scope of Latin America has less than three dozen countries so please explain how the invaders from 52 countries got here? Did they swim across the ocean? Did they commandeer planes and parachute in? Maybe they came by submarine. These are the ridiculous lengths that one must to in order to deny the fact that this is an invasion. Many of these immigrants (from the Congo with Ebola spreading out of control are crossing into Texas with hundreds of dollars in their pockets, in yet another destabilizing event). And we are supposed to believe that these are just asylum seekers?

Why are the Mexicans deploying 15,000 troops? One can rest assured that the number will greatly inflate. Look for an announcement that the Mexicans in a sincere effort to stop illegal immigration are deploying many more troops on our southern border. The objective of these troops is deploy forward position weaponry (eg weapons caches, tanks, helicopters, etc) and just coincidentally, a force of about 15,000 would be needed to facilitate the logistical distribution across the border. These 15,000 Mexican soldiers represents the supply and logistics vanguard of an invading army.

Beside the Mexican military, there are many domestic terrorists prepositioned for action when the time comes. All of this is a prelude to invasion from our southern border.

Two Destabilizing Events Which Could Serve As a Prelude to Invasion of the United States

Continuing from the last report: Embedded within these illegal alien invaders are the paramilitary troops that are posing as illegal immigrants. This is an invasion force and every source I speak with is concerned about this and these people are being helped out of their own country by the CIA and George Soros' organizations.

The fallacy of Trumps agreement with Mexico has already been exposed as a fraud! And then there is the USA's southern border with Mexico and their 15,000 troops on the border. However, these troops are not in the business of catching illegal aliens preparing to cross into the United States. In this scenario, the ultimate purpose of the Mexican troops is not to catch illegal immigrants, it is to facilitate a Red Dawn invasion breakthrough. Last evening, I spent an hour on the border with an ARSOF retired General. He told me that there is no coordination between the Mexican government, their 15,000 troops, ICE, the Border Patrol and the Department of Homeland Security. He stated quite clearly that any interdiction program involving both sides of the border would require extensive cooperation between the two countries and that is not happening. And his final response was outrage directed at President Trump. He said Trump should know better and that no amount of Deep State penetration could legitimately explain the lack of cooperation between the two countries.

From Agenda 21 Radio:

Blogger Threatened with Arrest

Despite the agreement between the United States and Mexico, the rate by which the illegal invasion at the border continues.

In a video by Patriot Fire the evidence cannot be denied. From the video comes this explanation:

Until now, the illegal alien refugee flights coming to San Diego have been unloading next to the runway, which was in plain sight, if you have a telescopic lens or binoculars. This time on June 12, 2019, though, they headed for another part of the airport where the view is partially blocked... It seems they don't want people to see that it's still business as usual after Trump's agreement with Mexico. One of the first indications that the agreement is working will be that the illegal alien refugee flights will stop coming, and they have NOT.

Watch at: DHS Hides Fake-Refugee Airliner, Threatens Arrest Of Blogger

World Atlantic Airlines is the trade name of Caribbean Sun Airlines Inc., a United States airline operating on-demand and scheduled charter services. Its corporate headquarters are located in Virginia Gardens, Florida.

I have also learned from a DHS source that this airline is flying Africans to Red States. Why is this significant? These Africans are from the Congo. And what is in the Congo? Ebola is in the Congo. If we simply connect the dots, it would appear that this is yet another attempt to influence the 2020 election by infecting Red States with Ebola as opposed to Blue States. Comment: The elections are for the most part theater at this point, so I believe the real reason would be to infect, sicken, destabilize and kill off conservatives, which would be the main enemies of the NWO, especially if they were awake.

This assertion may seem far-fetched until one realizes that CSS was informed by Border Patrol, in a leaked DHS document, that immigrants from 52 countries have been apprehended in the last 30 days. This puts a whole different light on this threat. Admittedly, this is a death by a thousand cuts strategy. However, the crisis worsens when the economy collapses.

The Oroville Dam Threat Becomes More Critical

Three days ago, the Dam nearly failed. The use of the Spillway experiment failed miserably. The Dam is merely waiting for nature to its final course.

Just to basically review, if the Oroville Dam breaks, the following will happen:

1. A 30 foot wall of water, traveling at 75mph will come rushing out of the failed dam.
2. Depending on whose estimates one reads, a 20 foot wall of water will enter Sacramento within 45 minutes to 2 hours.
3. The entire crop supply in the Central Valley will be wiped out. Couple with nearly half of all Midwest American farmland under water, this event will produce extreme food shortages and spot famines. The reason that this event, in my mind is so dangerous, is that a purge accompanies any coup. This event will provide the Deep State with the ability to use food as a weapon on a national scale. This is how they will lure millions to FEMA camps. This is the main reason that I have kept my eye on Oroville.

4. The estimated casualty count would be approximately one million people. This would provide the UN with the justification to enter the United States, under the Kigali principles. Remember, the UN admits to training the new Mexican National Guard, the one that resides on our border and is not catching any illegal aliens.

Here is the latest on the Oroville Dam:

As one can clearly see, the inflow rate still exceeds the outflow rate. It is only a matter of time since the Dam is only 4 feet from overtopping. The DWS is reporting that the Oroville Lake is 15 feet from overtopping.

If the Dam breaks, this solves a lot of problems for the US. This would constitute the biggest disaster in American history. The Dam failure will result in economic destruction, spot famines, and a military occupation on American soil under the guise of humanitarian aid.

Conclusion

Do these two destabilizing events pose a sufficient threat to the US that will result in a destabilization which would be needed as a prelude to invasion? And we have not even talked about the coming terrorist attacks. That will be the subject of a future article. You have been reading about a portion of the perfect storm that is forming.

Hundreds of Haitians, Africans wade through Rio Grande, stroll into USA — carrying luggage!

June 28, 2019-- Groups of hundreds of Africans, Haitians and others from Central and South America continue to trudge across the U.S.- Mexico border in record numbers, despite promises from Mexico to help stop the massive migration.

Footage from the Del Rio Sector of the border in Texas shows scores are making their way in mini-caravans, with many arriving well-dressed in designer clothes, toting luggage and backpacks with their children in tow.

#USBP Del Rio Sector Border Patrol agents apprehended 2 large groups of over 100 in 2 days. Total of 3 large groups this fiscal year. More info:

— CBP South Texas (@CBPSouthTexas) June 27, 2019

Border Patrol agents came across the first of the two most recent groups on June 22, when 105 crossed the Rio Grande River and into the United States.

That group consisted of 82 Haitians, with the rest from South America and Africa.

On Monday, another group nearly twice as big – 205 – waded across, undoubtedly inspired by the success of the first group. The second wave included 122 Haitians, with dozens of others from Africa and South America, according to a statement from U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

Border Patrol agents on the southwest border apprehended 132,887 illegal immigrants in May alone, while the running total for fiscal year 2019 stands at 787,161 through May – roughly the population of Seattle or Denver.

+2+ Avoiding Cholera After the Grid Goes Down: What You Need to Know to Be Prepared

Cholera is a serious case of diarrhea caused by the bacterium Vibrio cholerae, which naturally lives in seawater. When it enters the gut, it produces a toxin that poisons a vital cellular transport protein. Most cases of cholera occur because of fecal-contaminated water. It coats the surfaces of shellfish and marine plants. A person who ingested contaminated food or water will experience symptoms between 12 hours and five days after consumption. If left untreated, he or she will die within hours.

Cholera outbreaks typically occur in the poorest communities with the worst sanitation and water purification system, and they also follow disasters, particularly tsunamis and floods. These disasters expose many people to sea-borne bacteria that can contaminate water systems. Cholera outbreaks often accompany floods that let untreated sewage into people's sources of drinking water. The diarrhea of the sick contributes to the bacterial count of the water and the transmission risks. Areas like peri-urban slums and overcrowded camps for internally displaced people, where minimum requirements of clean water and sanitation are not being met, can increase the risk of cholera transmission, should the bacteria be present or introduced.

Each year, 1.3 to 4 million cases of cholera are recorded, and 21,000 to 143,000 people around the world die because of it. (Related: Pandemic cholera is naturally resistant to antibiotics: Scientists have discovered it is different than other drug-resistant bacteria.)

The key to preventing and interrupting the cholera epidemic is to purify your water. Use purified water for everything that involves ingestion, such as washing dishes, brushing your teeth, preparing food. To make sure that your water is safe to drink and use, bring it to a complete boil for at least one minute. Always remember to store your water in a clean, covered container.

In addition, always remember to wash your hands with soap before you eat or handle food. You should also wash your hands after using the toilet, after cleaning your child's bottom, and after taking care of someone ill with diarrhea.

Another way to prevent cholera is to use sanitation systems to dispose of feces. Avoid defecating in any body of water. After defecating, make it a habit to always wash your hands with soap and safe water. In case toilets are not available, especially during disasters, defecate at least 30 m away from any body of water, and then bury your waste. You can dig temporary pit toilets that are at least a half-meter deep and 30 m away from any body of water.

When cooking food, especially seafood, cook it well. Be sure to cook shellfish, such as crabs and crayfish, until they are very hot all throughout. Avoid eating any raw food other than fruits and vegetables that you have peeled yourself.

Additionally, it is important to clean up safely. The kitchen and places where the family bathes and washes clothes must be properly cleaned after using. Cleanse yourself, your family, diapers, and clothes 30 m away from drinking water sources.

Here are other things you need to remember about cholera:

- Cholera risk is low until some other disaster disturbs sanitation.
- Coastal areas have a higher risk of having cholera problems than inland areas.
- Inland areas are not immune to cholera. Local water sources can also be infected by a migrant – be it human or imported seafood.
- Big cities are high-risk zones if they practice poor sanitation.

Proper sanitation is the key to preventing cholera and other bacterial outbreak.

Using Colloidal Silver & Food Grade Hydrogen Peroxide to Disinfect Drinking Water and for Long-Term Storage

If you're a prepper, or if you just want to have some water stored for the long-term in case of earthquake, fire, terrorism, civil disorder or other potential dangers, you'll need to make sure the water is thoroughly disinfected during storage so microbes don't get a chance to grow in it.

Thankfully, colloidal silver can effectively be used for disinfecting water during long-term storage. And there's another substance you can add, as well, that's said to boost the disinfectant power of the colloidal silver by up to 1,000 times.

Here's the details you need to know if you want to keep your water free of microbes during long-term storage...

There are as many opinions on how much colloidal silver to use for keeping water disinfected during long-term storage as there are people using it.

In other words, everyone has a different opinion, and most of them are based on either hearsay or personal experience.

Because water quality differs from town-to-town, region-to-region and state-to-state (and sometimes even from house-to-house), what works best for one person might not work as well for another.

Nevertheless, the general rule-of-thumb is to use one ounce of 10 ppm colloidal silver per gallon of stored water. But as a "just in case" measure, I personally use two ounces of 10 ppm colloidal silver per each gallon of water being stored, for maximum long-term disinfection.

Comment: 5000ppm Invive Silver is 500 times stronger than 10ppm silver. So to make a 10ppm solution you would divide 5000 by 10 which equals 500. So to make a 10ppm solution from a 5000ppm bottle of Invive just add 500 parts distilled water to one drop of 5000ppm. Now this is almost a full ounce as it would be 501 drops, & one ounce of liquid equals 591 drops while two ounces equals 1182 drops. So for simplicity sake just add 3 drops of 5000ppm Invive Silver per gallon of water you are storing.

This means a five gallon container of water being put into long-term storage in my home would get 10 ounces of 10 ppm colloidal silver. Comment: Or 15 drops of Invive 5000ppm Yes, that's overkill. But again, I want to make sure my stored water is safe to drink when the time comes to use it.

Using Colloidal Silver and Hydrogen Peroxide

While I'm not a big fan of drinking colloidal silver that's been treated with hydrogen peroxide (unless it's been given several days for the hydrogen peroxide to dissipate) I do from time-to-time combine hydrogen peroxide and colloidal silver when I put water away to be stored for the long-term.

Many years ago there was a McGill University study on the use of silver and hydrogen peroxide for the treatment of sewage water. The link I had to that study is now dead. But according to the study, adding hydrogen peroxide to the colloidal silver-treated water increases the decontamination and disinfection of common microbes such as e. Coli by anywhere from 100 to 1,000 times!

Naturally, that might prove to be a valuable consideration in a long-term water storage program. According to the study's authors, the optimal dose for silver and hydrogen peroxide in drinking water is 30 ppb (parts per billion) silver and 30ppm (parts per million) hydrogen peroxide.

Extrapolated to a five gallon storage container, this would suggest the use of 23 drops of 3% food grade hydrogen peroxide Comment or about 2-3 drops of the 35% food grade hydrogen peroxide, along with about two ounces of a standard 10 ppm colloidal silver solution Comment: Or 15 drops of Invive 5000ppm.

Again, I'm one who believes in overkill in a situation like this where long-term water storage is involved, so I've doubled those numbers in my own water storage program, when I choose to add both colloidal silver and hydrogen peroxide together.

Before and After

My personal opinion is that it's best to use either of these methods (i.e., colloidal silver alone, or colloidal silver with hydrogen peroxide) both BEFORE placing the water into long-term water storage, and then again AFTERWARDS.

In other words, I'll add my colloidal silver (or colloidal silver and hydrogen peroxide) before putting the water into storage. And then, when the stored water is needed, I'll repeat the process before using the water, just in case there was some kind of re-contamination of the water during long-term storage.

Consider Filtration, as Well

Finally, for maximum protection, filtration of the water after long-term storage is very important, in order to get rid of any protozoal cysts such as Giardia that may have been lurking in the stored water from the start.

Many protozoal cysts (of which Giardia is the most common in the U.S.) are not affected at all by the relatively small amounts of colloidal silver, hydrogen peroxide, or even iodine or chlorine bleach frequently used as germicidal and disinfectant agents in water storage.

But because of the relatively large size of these microorganisms (compared to bacteria), filtration through any high-quality gravity fed ceramic filter should do the trick.

In that regard, a company called DoultonUSA has some excellent, gravity fed emergency water filtration units that can filter up to a gallon at a time. A company called British Berkefeld sells a portable gravity filter, which can hold up to two gallons, and effectively filter up to 10 gallons per day. What's particularly neat about the water filters from both of the above companies is that they're silver-impregnated, so you get additional pathogen germicidal disinfection of the water during the filtration process.

5 cc/ml/1 teaspoon per gallon

Shake for 30 seconds

Wait 10 minutes

Shake for 30 seconds again, to INSURE the silver has been evenly dispersed.

Then imbibe.

If the water is very cold, or you are concerned about the possible presence of Giardia cysts in the water, allow two hours until drinking.

Remember to cover AND store the 1 gallon vessel in a black opaque bag or lightproof box.

INVIVE Silver will kill all the bacteria within 2 minutes, but use 10 minutes for absolute safety before drinking.

SILVER Nature's Purifier

The value of silver in medicine, and as a purifier has been acknowledged for centuries. Egyptians implanted silver plates into skulls, with surgery. In ancient Greece and Rome, people used silver containers to keep liquids fresh. When settlers moved across the American West, they would purify a container of water by putting a silver dollar in it overnight, and silver dollars were used to keep milk from spoiling. Toward the end of the 19th Century, other medical uses for silver were developed like dropping a silver solution into the eyes of new-born babies to prevent blindness due to infection.

Scores of independent tests by many methods in 6 countries have shown that silver promptly kills bacteria in water and maintains water purity over long periods of time.

Russian scientists, working on water recycling and purification problems for the Soviet space program have decided on silver as the best long-term sanitizing agent.

Researching the problems of water storage over periods of several months, as well as purification for immediate use, they determined that colloidal silver provides the safest and longest lasting method of transforming polluted waste into potable water.

After testing 23 methods of purifying water, NASA has chosen silver as the purifying agent on the Space Shuttle Program. Silver will be used in two functions that will provide Shuttle crews with pure water for drinking, air conditioning, food preparation and other operations. By establishing 100 parts of silver in a billion parts of water as hygienic for drinking in the Shuttle, NASA eliminates the need for 1,000 to 1,500 parts per billion of chlorine generally used for purification.

The unit will provide Shuttle crews with 32 gallons of pure water daily for all uses within the Shuttle, and for backpacks when the Astronauts work outside the vehicle in Space. The most dramatic purification tests occurred in 1976 in a 20,000 gallon swimming pool in Nebraska. There was no disinfectant of any kind in the water. Fifty gallons of municipal sewage plant effluent was put in the pool. That produced a dangerous concentration of 7,000 E. Coli bacteria cells per 100 milliliters (half a cup) of water. Contents of the pool were pumped through a tank containing alternating anodic and cathode silver electrodes for disinfection. Within three hours the pool was entirely free of E. Coli bacteria and the water contained only 3.2 parts of silver per billion parts of water.

The Allegheny County Health Department in Pennsylvania conducted tests in a 152,000 gallon pool which previously has been disinfected by a 50 pounds-per-day chlorinator. The system was replaced by a silver system for the swimming seasons of 1974 and 1975. Pool water circulated through a filter of activated carbon impregnated with metallic silver. The county Health Department took up to 50 daily samples and found that silver ions remained in the pool at a low, steady rate of 20 parts per billion with water free of coliform, pseudomonas and staphylococcus bacteria through-out the two seasons. In contrast, 65 water samples from 30 other pools having a mean concentration of 700 parts per billion of available chlorine for disinfecting showed a mean of 1.3 pseudomonas and 7.3 staph. cells per milliliter of water.

"This data", the Health Department reported, "indicates that silver is equal to chlorine in maintaining essentially coliform free pool water, and is somewhat better than chlorine in destroying pseudomonas and staph. aureus organisms ....." It should be noted that there were no visible growths of algae during the tests.

Listener Question About Affordable Medical Care – Medi-Share

...our daughter lives in NC. She is in bad financial condition, has no health insurance, is at the mercy of the ER when medical problem arises. Do you know of any organization or group that she can go to for medical treatment, exams, etc or is she left with indignant care. Well not really, Medishare is the only organization I know of that offers affordable health care for Christians. We have used it and they seem to have a ton of integrity. <https://mychristiancare.org/medi-share/> *Medi-Share is a community of Christians who have agreed to live as the early church (Acts 2 & 4) when it comes to sharing each other's burdens. Members share each other's eligible medical bills and, most importantly, encourage and lift one another up in prayer.
