Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Psalms 101:3: I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the work of them that turn aside; it shall not cleave to me.

Psalms 11:5: The LORD trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth.

1 Cor 15:33: Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.

How do I get hydroxychloroquine or quinine and zinc? Please send me links to the best things to buy or let me know if you sell them?

The media & main stream docs are making this a lot worse than it is.

Scott Johnson's Response:

Wendy: I have done a couple of audio segments on chloroquine (which is very similar to hydroxychloroquine) but it appear by the side effects listed at the 2nd link below that the hydroxychloroquine (you are inquiring about) is a little safer than chloroquine (but that is not saying much). One of the main side effects of chloroquine is suicide. Also permanent blindness is another one. See:

<https://www.drugs.com/sfx/chloroquine-side-effects.html>

<https://www.drugs.com/sfx/hydroxychloroquine-side-effects.html> Now having said that I have no idea where you could get it, other than going the medical route.

Also I just heard from an MD that Quinine and schweppes tonic water (which has quinine in it) are a natural form of hydroxychloroquine. Quinine is also the ingredient in tonic water that gives it its bitter taste.^[4]

Quinine was first isolated in 1820 from the bark of a cinchona tree.^{[2][5][6]} Bark extracts have been used to treat malaria since at least 1632.^[7] It is on the World Health Organization's List of Essential Medicines, the safest and most effective medicines needed in a health system.^[8] The wholesale price in the developing world is about US$1.70 to $3.40 per course of treatment.^[9] In the United States a course of treatment is more than $200.^[10]

<https://www.walmart.com/ip/Schweppes-Tonic-Water-1-L/10448494>

But Quinine (the drug) just like its two cousins mentioned above can also have horrible side effects: <https://www.drugs.com/sfx/quinine-side-effects.html>

Tonic water or any other quinine-containing food or drink doesn't have nearly enough quinine to treat malaria. The amount of quinine in any food is strictly regulated by the Food & Drug Administration. Any food containing the ingredient can have no more than 83 parts per million of quinine, which is considered generally safe for consumption.

To put this into perspective: A 1-liter bottle of tonic water (about 34 ounces) has 83 milligrams of quinine. An antimalarial quinine tablet has 500 to 1,000 milligrams, per Harvard Health Publishing.

Ok so what is the best most natural option, well this is the way God manufactured it in nature:

Canadian veterans set to sue government over anti-malarial drug effects

CTVNews.ca Staff with a report from CTV National News' Annie Bergeron-Oliver
Published Sunday, March 24, 2019

Hundreds of Canadian veterans are blaming an anti-malarial drug for long-term psychological problems. Many former military members believe the drug mefloquine caused debilitating side effects, including depression and anxiety. Canadian soldiers who took a military-issued anti-malarial drug held a town hall in Ottawa, Ont., on Sunday to discuss both their concerns that the drug may have caused incapacitating mental health side-effects and a class-action lawsuit they are set to launch.

Nearly 1,000 Canadian veterans have joined the lawsuit, which will sue the federal government, claiming that the anti-malarial medication mefloquine has left them suffering from depression, night terrors, aggressive behaviour and suicide.

Philip Brooks, a retired air force captain who joined to lawsuit, was on the drug for two weeks before his mission to the Congo was cancelled.

He said he received no warning about any potential side effects of the drug, but immediately after taking it, began having vivid nightmares and experiencing a sense of doom.

"I went down and couldn't recover," said Brooks, who had no previous history of depression or anxiety.

Mefloquine is highly effective against malaria and was first given to the Canadian troops heading to Somalia in the early 1990s, even before it was approved by Health Canada.

But some experts believe it may be linked to long-term effects that often mimic the symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder.

"In some people, the drug either accumulates or acts in some way in the brain tissue to cause damage," said Dr. Remington Nevin, the executive director of The Quinism Foundation, a non-profit dedicated to supporting research and education of the effects of mefloquine.

She added that related drugs "have actually been known to cause permanent injury and destruction in diverse areas in the brain stem or limbic system."

Why are Health Food Stores Closing During this Pandemic?

April 8, 2020--One state governor is shutting down health food stores that sell vital supplements as "nonessential" businesses. We must fight back and make sure others don't follow suit. Action Alert!

Nevada Governor Steve Sisolak has ordered all nonessential businesses in the state to close for 30 days. In defiance of federal guidance, he has included health food stores in that order. It is pure lunacy to limit people's access to health products and foods that can boost immunity during a pandemic. We must all send messages to our state officials to push back and ensure similar moves don't happen across the country.
