FAA Issues Warning For Air Travel Disruptions During Total Solar Eclipse On April 8

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) issued a warning on Thursday about potential disruptions in air travel surrounding the upcoming total solar eclipse on April 8.

The celestial event, set to cast a path of totality across 13 states, is anticipated to impact air travel operations before, during, and after the eclipse, according to the aviation agency.

The FAA indicated that the eclipse's effects on U.S. airspace are anticipated between approximately 2:30 p.m. and 3:40 p.m. ET. At this time, some 32 million people in North America are expected to witness the rare event, which is anticipated to be the most-watched solar eclipse in history.

A notice issued by the FAA to airmen emphasized potential impacts on air traffic and airports along the eclipse path from April 7 to April 10.

NASA's Serpent Deity Project has announced it will fire three scientific sounding rockets into the moon's shadow on Monday, April 8 during the solar eclipse across North America--The space agency's project, Atmospheric Perturbations Around The Eclipse Path also called APEP is named after the serpent deity from ancient Egyptian mythology, nemesis of the sun deity Ra, according to NASA NASA's suborbital rockets won't launch into totality. Instead they'll go from Wallops Flight Facility in Wallops Island, Virginia, from where 81% of the sun will be blocked by the moon. That moment will happen at 15:33 EST, though the eclipse will take part between 14:06 and 16:33.

CERN Particle Accelerator To Go Live During Solar Eclipse After Two Year Hiatus: The machine, a Large Hadron Collider (LHC), smashes protons into each other to bust them open and study the subatomic particles inside them.

The European Organization for Nuclear Research's CERN particle accelerator will be cranking up just as the upcoming April 8 solar eclipse takes place.

During next month's eclipse, the team of scientists will be trying to prove the existence of dark matter, which is estimated to make up around 28% of the universe despite never being seen.

While the LHC usually operates for one month every year, it has been two years since it was up and running after being turned off during Europe's 2022 energy crisis.

Last week, scientists revealed a "ghost-like" structure had been discovered inside the particle collider.

According to scientists at CERN, a mysterious entity was detected inside their particle collider. Physicists claim they have "captured and calculated the characteristics of a 'ghost-like' structure—an invisible entity that can alter the paths of particles..." pic.twitter.com/XcgVEqru7H

— Nick Hinton (@NickHintonn) March 29, 2024

Popular X account "Concerned Citizen" commented on CERN's solar eclipse testing and also noted NASA will be launching rockets named after an Egyptian snake deity during the event.

The NASA mission, known as APEP, was given the acronym in honor of the "serpent deity from ancient Egyptian mythology," who was a "nemesis of the Sun deity Ra."

"It was said that Apep pursued Ra and every so often nearly consumed him, resulting in an eclipse," the NASA website states.

According to Ancient Egypt Online, "Apep was the ancient Egyptian spirit of evil, darkness and destruction. As the arch enemy of the sun god, Ra, he was a malevolent force who could never be entirely vanquished. Every night, as the sun travelled through the underworld (or across the sky), his roar would fill the air and he would launch his attack."

Mainstream Media Reporting--This Rare Neurological Condition Makes Faces Appear Distorted or 'Like a Demon' | Smithsonian Magazine Plus a Listener Comment on This

One winter morning roughly three years ago, Victor Sharrah woke up and spotted his roommate walking to the bathroom. However, when Sharrah looked at his roommate's face, he was startled to see that the man's facial features had stretched to look like "something out of a Star Trek movie, like a demon face," he tells the London Times' Kaya Burgess. The corners of his mouth and eyes were pulled back, his ears were pointy and he had deep grooves in his forehead. Nothing had actually changed about his roommate's face—but something had shifted drastically in the way Sharrah perceived it. He was, understandably, terrified. The same thing happened when he looked at other people's faces, too. "I tried to explain to my roommate what I was seeing, and he thought I was nuts," Sharrah tells CNN's Sandee LaMotte. "Imagine waking up one morning and suddenly everybody in the world looks like a creature in a horror movie."

Sharrah, who is now 59 and lives in Clarksville, Tennessee, was later diagnosed with PMO, an extremely rare neurological disorder that causes human faces to appear distorted. Fewer than 100 cases have been reported since 1904, and many doctors have never heard of it.

Subject: RE: ...yes well just saying that I think the eclipse might have to do with these people changing into the devils they actually are .. What if shot is for this solar eclipse and what if something occurs to reveal the hidden truth that the demonic realm is taking over . the demons in um from the injections !!!!! I just feel this cause there warning on the news at same time of some new mental disease where people see demons on people's faces it's like some new fake mental illness, they say it's rare, but it makes the person see distorted faces that look like demons... Perfect timing to announce that.

...What if this exclipse has something to do with veil vanishing almost. like where all that is hidden will come forth!! I see real demons manifest behind people's faces and sin and the demonic can change a person's face shape even !! Sin is so warping and the demons it attracts can take shape in a person for so long that there face stats to look like the demon itself!! But I feel something with eclipse will maybe transform those who Got shot !!...

The March 26th Baltimore Bridge Collapse Is Going To Have An Enormous Impact On U.S. Supply Chains

According to Bloomberg, it appears that the Port of Baltimore will be “out of commission indefinitely”...

The Port of Baltimore — the biggest handler of US imports and exports of cars and light trucks — looks to be out of commission indefinitely. The resulting bottleneck could accelerate a shift of goods through West Coast ports. Another crucial question: Which other ports have spare capacity to handle the Ro-Ro vessels that carry automobiles if Baltimore is closed for an extended period. This is a really big deal, because over 750,000 vehicles came through that port last year alone...

The port is the busiest in the U.S. for car shipments, handling more than 750,000 vehicles in 2023, according to data from the Maryland Port Administration. It is also the largest U.S. port by volume for handling farm and construction machinery, as well as agricultural products.

In addition, a whole host of prominent retailers are very dependent on the Port of Baltimore...

Retailers like Home Depot, Bob's Furniture, IKEA, and Amazon are just some of the companies that use the port to import goods. Other top imports include sugar and gypsum.

“This will have an impact for trade all along the East Coast and it will continue until we know how quickly” the port can reopen, said Richard Meade, editor-in-chief of the shipping journal Lloyd's List.

Vessels were already being diverted to New York and down to Virginia on Tuesday, said Meade. “There will be dozens of diversions in the next week and hundreds in the coming months as long as Baltimore is shut down.”

It Could Take HOW LONG to Rebuild Francis Scott Key Bridge?

Could it really take twice as long and four times as much money to replace the collapsed Francis Scott Key Bridge than it did to build it in the first place?

The Key Bridge was built at a cost (adjusted for inflation) of about $200 million.

Replacing it could take a decade and cost $400 million to $800 million dollars, according to experts.

“To actually recreate that whole transportation network” could take a decade or more, structural engineer Ben Schafer told USA Today on Wednesday. Huge projects, Schafer said, now take “rarely less than 10 years.”

Welcome to 21st Century America, where everything is needlessly time-consuming, expensive, stupid, or (most likely) all three.

The timing “all depends on factors that are still mostly unknown,” the AP explained. “They range from the design of the new bridge to how swiftly government officials can navigate the bureaucracy of approving permits and awarding contracts.”

Let me help you out on this one.

You have the original plans stashed somewhere, I’m sure. Those plans have already been run through the bureaucratic torture test — and the bridge stood without any problems for almost 50 years until a massive container ship struck one of its vitals.

So just get started ASAP building the same bridge, but with concrete “dolphins” or fenders around the new supporting piers to avoid future disasters like the one that collapsed the original.

But everyone knows that won’t happen. The replacement bridge will have to be new and somehow improved — or so they’ll claim — and require months or years of study on the environmental impacts, even though there’s been a bridge there for 50 years already. Hiring contractors will likely take twice as long as they’ll have to meet strict new DEI standards.

Planners will likely require three years just to decide on a new name. They’ll eventually settle on “The George Floyd-Pete Buttigieg Antiracist Inclusive Transit Structure” or some such garbage.

Alert! Col. Macgregor Warns Dems Plan To Turn Guns On US Citizens Once Military Recruits Illegals

The Democrat-proposed “Courage to Serve Act” would offer illegal migrants an expedited path to citizenship if they serve in the U.S. military as it continues missing recruitment goals thanks to unpopular globalist wars and far-left ideology being pushed on soldiers.

First you allow your country to be invaded, then you hand automatic weapons to the people who invaded it. Doug Macgregor on the worst idea congress has ever had. pic.twitter.com/MoG4FMoYQ2

— Tucker Carlson (@TuckerCarlson) March 4, 2024

The reality is they want to allow an invasion of the country, not use the military to stop it, and then populate the military with the very people who are invading the country, so they can be used as a genocidal force against the law abiding populace and then replace them.

This would be one way a police state could easily be created in America where citizens are threatened at the barrel of a gun by foreign invaders.

Col. Macgregor suggested the current ruling class in America appears set to burn the country down and build their “Brave New World” on the ashes of the Republic.

He continued to note the vast majority of the illegals coming over now have no allegiance to American values or the Constitution and are instead looking for the benefits advertised by the Biden administration and Soros-run NGOs.

“None of these people are Americans, we know from having interviewed them they have no aspiration to be Americans. What they aspire to is to get in to the consumption machine. Get the ticket of entry, the free check, the free phone, the free transportation tickets, the free food, free medical care,” he said.

The political establishment is telling the illegals they’re bringing in that: Americans who disagree with the status quo are criminals, Macgregor added before asking, “What better solution than finding people who have no connection to the American people, arming them, and then sending them out to oppress us?”

NY Illegal Migrants to Receive Up to $10,000 Each With Democrat Pre-Paid Debit Card Program

New York City Mayor Eric Adams (D) is receiving backlash over his new pilot program that awards illegal migrants with pre-paid debit cards loaded with up to $10,000 each with virtually no safeguards or fraud controls.

Earlier this month, the city announced its partnership with Mobility Capital Finance to launch a $53 million pilot program that would give migrant families a reloadable prepaid debit card to buy food and supplies.

“Not only will this provide families with the ability to purchase fresh food for their culturally relevant diets and the baby supplies of their choosing, but the pilot program is expected to save New York City more than $600,000 per month, or more than $7.2 million annually,” the mayor’s office said in a statement.

In a recent TikTok post, Leonal Moreno said he learned of a legal loophole in some states like New York that allows squatters to live inside empty homes.

“My people have thought about invading a house in the United States because I learned that there is a law that says that if a house is not inhabited we can expropriate it,” Moreno said in Spanish.

— Collin Rugg (@CollinRugg) March 20, 2024

“The law says that if the abandoned houses are deteriorated and that are in bad condition, we can get, repair and live in it and even sell it.”

Moreno went on to explain that he knows some “African” migrants who’ve already “expropriated” 7 other unoccupied houses in the U.S. and wants to turn the outrageous squatting scheme into a business.

“And I think it will be my next business — invade abandoned homes, since I searched for some codes with my African friends and they told me they already have 7 expropriated houses,” he said.

Moreno made headlines last month after bragging on TikTok how he exploits his child to leech off the U.S. taxpayer to avoid working and lives like he’s on vacation.

“You came to the United States to work, and I came to vacation, look at the difference. You and I didn’t come with the same purpose..” Moreno said.

This comes in the wake of a disturbing story that a New York homeowner was arrested for trying to evict squatters from her house.

“I am being arrested for being in my own home,” Adele Andaloro told the news cameras as she was handcuffed. “My deed is current and legal.”

Unbelievably, illegal squatters in New York have more rights to a residence after occupying it for more than a month, than the lawful owner!

And now illegal aliens are aware of this absurd legal loophole and seem eager to exploit it.

A woman who inherited a home in New York City full of people squatting illegally was arrested and led away in handcuffs after she changed the locks.

Adele Andaloro, 47, was placed under arrest at her $1 million home in Flushing, Queens, which she inherited from her parents after they died.

"It's enraging," Andaloro told the NY Post. "It's not fair that I, as the homeowner, have to be going through this."

Andaloro claims the ordeal erupted when she started the process of trying to sell the home last month but realized squatters had moved in — and brazenly replaced the entire front door and locks.

Fed up, she recently went to her family's home on 160th Street — with the local TV outlet in tow — and called a locksmith to change the locks for her. -NY Post

The spat with the squatters, which was caught on camera, rapidly erupted into a verbal altercation until the cops showed up and led Andaloro away — charging her with 'unlawful eviction.'

Never do business in New York.

In NYC, anyone can simply claim "squatter's rights" after 30 days of living at a home which isn't even enough time for the city to do their "investigation, their work, and their job" according to home owner Adele Andaloro. When the 30 day mark comes, it is illegal to change the locks, remove tenants or turn off the utilities. The bogus law means practically anyone can squat in a home and there is nothing the homeowner can do about it. Absolute insanity.

Organized migrant gangs now targeting luxury homes in Los Angeles, Scottsdale

- Latin American gangs are targeting upscale residences in Southern California and Scottsdale, Arizona.

- Los Angeles Police Department Chief Dominic Choi reports a significant increase in burglaries from organized groups operating outside the country.

- Some of these gangs may be exploiting the 2014 visa waiver program to conduct heists.

- Burglars avoid using firearms and instead use jamming devices to disable home security systems.

Over in Scottsdale AZ, local police are describing what the gangs often do as "dinner-time burglaries"

Three individuals were recently arrested after being caught engaging in what media reports are now describing as exceptionally professional and strategic burglary plots that involve a high level of planning and sophistication. These are not mere smash-and-grab operations, in other words.

Many of these burglars are operating interstate, including both in Arizona and California. Area residents are scared, they say, and are now desperately trying to upgrade their home security systems to feel safer.

"I'm from Chicago, and that's, like, a crime city," complained Scottsdale resident Dwayne Staten. "I came here looking for tranquility and no crime. I just bought this new alarm system and I didn't think I needed it. I'm at the top of the mountain."

Being at the top of the mountain no longer ensures a safe and secure existence from everyone down below, though. Staten and others like him are realizing that peace and security have left the building, no matter what the upper crust does to try to insulate itself from the unfolding collapse of this nation gone wrong.

"It's a big deal," said Scottsdale Police Chief Jeff Walther in a recent press conference. "It's impacting Scottsdale. It's impacting the valley. It's impacting the state. It's impacting the country."

Because of the high level of sophistication of these burglary gangs, as well as the precise coordination of their various criminal networks, law enforcement is experiencing great difficulties getting a grip on the situation as they desperately try to stop it.

As the gap between rich and poor continues to widen in America, and throughout the world at large, increasing lawlessness will naturally fill that void.

Elderly UK Couple (& Many Like Them) Are Being Ordered to Sell Home Their Homes to the Government to House the Illegal Invader "Migrants"

An elderly English couple was shocked to receive a letter from their county's council ordering them to sell their home to house migrants.

The North Northamptonshire Council sent a strongly-worded letter to Jose and Ted Saunders in January claiming their £200,000 home could be subject to compulsory purchase from the government to be used to house young migrant men.

"I couldn't believe it," said retired carer Jose, 76. "We moved to Rushden to help provide childcare for my grand-daughter and found this nice little place to live."

"What on earth is the council doing forcing people to sell their houses – and even an empty house is owned by someone – so that asylum seekers can live in them?" she asked.

"The answer to this is to stop them coming in the first place, not to force people out of their homes."

"The idea of forcing us to sell it to make room for refugees and asylum seekers seems totally wrong," she added.

Squatters Are Taking Over Homes All Over The Nation On An Industrial Scale And Turning Them Into Dens Of Crime

Feb 12, 2024 - Authored by Michael Snyder via The Economic Collapse blog,

Squatting has always been a problem, especially in certain parts of the nation, but now it is happening on an industrial scale all over America.

Thanks to online listings, it is easier than ever to identify properties that are vacant, and many states have laws that make it exceedingly difficult to get squatters out once they have settled in. In some cases, squatters are able to live rent free in beautiful homes for months or even years. This is becoming an absolutely massive problems, especially in certain areas of the country. For example, it is being reported that squatters have taken over approximately 1,200 homes in the Atlanta area...

Squatters are ruining entire neighborhoods in Atlanta and police response to evict is so slow, some homeowners have resorted to paying the nuisances to leave.

Brazen squatters even opened an illegal strip club on a property they had taken over.

"I'd be terrified in Atlanta to lease out one of my properties,"* Matt Urbanski, who manages a local home-cleaning company, told Bloomberg.

There is no way in the world that I would want to own a rental property in that city.

If you can believe it, there is even one company that has been running ads on social media offering to find a prime squatter home in Atlanta for you for a fee...

At first glance, it looks just like another real estate pro hustling to rent homes on social media.

But at 1 Time Payment Homes, the site makes it clear these are squatter homes and spells out just what that means in a pinned Insta story.

"The company's owners will come out, so will the police. The police will tell you there's nothing they can do about it — squatters rights," our Channel 2 producer J.P. read off the Instagram account.

Recently, 1 Time Payment Homes has actually been running a "New Year's special".

$1,400 will get you the keys to a squatter home so that you can "stack money and turn ya life around".

Whoever is behind 1 Time Payment Homes should be in prison.

But that is not how America works in 2024

Of course, it isn't just in Atlanta where squatting has become such a widespread issue.

In the state of Washington, squatters have taken over an entire apartment complex and have turned it into a den of crime...

Squatters and crime are taking over a Fife apartment complex. Families and the people handling the property are both beyond frustrated.

The problems are at the Sherwood Park Apartments. Police say the situation also attracted a ton of criminal activity. Now officers regularly patrol the area because of all the problems.

Most of the units at the complex are covered in plywood.

“It’s bad,” said Angel, a resident at the apartments. “The cops are here 24/7. Every day, every night. I keep my kids inside. I don’t let them out.”

Thanks to the absurd laws in that state, it isn’t going to be easy to get those squatters out.

California also has ridiculous laws, and right now “a very sophisticated criminal ring of squatters” is making a ton of money from the Beverly Hills mansion that they have occupied...

A Beverly Hills mansion seized by the court from a fugitive surgeon behind California’s biggest insurance fraud scheme is now a wild party house taken over by squatters, who are profiting off of regular ragers that are driving neighbors nuts.

The estate is listed for $4.5 million has been occupied by “a very sophisticated criminal ring of squatters,” the home’s listing agent John A. Woodward IV tells Los Angeles magazine. The squatters, he believes, are earning upwards of $30,000 a month renting rooms and hosting huge house parties with $100 entry fees.

This sort of thing is happening all over the nation, but the worst problems are in blue states with laws that are very favorable for squatters.

Every single day, predatory squatters are scanning online listings in order to identify their next targets...

It’s also gotten easier for squatters to find homes to move into.

Online listings and virtual real estate agents can allow squatters to find vacant addresses and gain access by booking fake appointments.

Some people may not even know they are squatters as scam artists can set up fake listings for empty properties and fake lease agreements.

Once a squatter is in, it’s hard to get them out. It can take three months to get a court hearing for an eviction, and another three months to get a deputy or marshal to clear out the home.

Meanwhile, things just get harder and harder for people that are trying to do things the right way. In recent years, many have seen rental prices skyrocket to absolutely insane levels...

Single mom Caitlyn Colbert watched as rent for her two-bedroom apartment doubled, then tripled and then quadrupled over a decade in Denver — from $750 to $3,374 last year.

Every month, like millions of Americans, Colbert juggled her costs. Pay rent or swim team fees for one of her three kids. Rent or school supplies. Rent or groceries. Colbert, a social worker who helps people stay financially afloat, would often arrive home to notices giving her 30 days to pay rent and a late fee or face eviction.

“Every month you just gotta budget and then you still fall short,” she said, adding what became a monthly refrain: “Well, this month at least we have $13 left.”

The worse that housing affordability becomes, the more people are going to be tempted to engage in squatting.

If you need to leave your home for a while, you may want to lock it up very tight, because there are plenty of squatters that would love to invade while you are gone.

Of course, this squatting crisis is just one of the ways that our society is descending into complete and utter lawlessness <<Read description of his book and how to order.
