Occult Influence Growing in Culture and Youth -- #WitchTok: Billions of Views, Millions of Souls – Actress Emma Watson now openly praises witchcraft in real life

As the face of Hogwarts' magical world, Emma Watson now openly praises witchcraft in real life. Her millions of followers are paying attention—and embracing the shift. In an Instagram post, she thanked the “witches in my coven” for helping shape her identity. She even calls them her personal “Avengers” and credits them for inspiring and empowering her. At the BAFTA Awards, she declared, “I’m here for all the witches.” So a young star who grew up playing a witch now finds a spiritual home in witchcraft.

And that’s just the start. Beyond Watson, witchcraft continues to become more prominent in entertainment and culture. Streaming services like Netflix maintain a dedicated “Witchcraft & the Dark Arts” genre. Tarot cards, crystals, and books on astrology are welcomed into homes as nonchalantly as DIY knitting kits.

TikTok has become the occult’s fastest-growing platform by far. Hashtags like #WitchTok have racked up billions of views and feature influencers casting spells, reading tarot cards, and selling sorcery as self-care.

Jenny Weaver, a former witch turned Christian leader, states, “Media has done a good job of pushing [witchcraft] to the point where it’s now normalized. We have shows (as early as day care age) promoting witchcraft and sorcery.” She warns that these platforms subtly introduce occult practices to a wide audience, including churchgoers unaware of the spiritual dangers.

In the music world, Taylor Swift, Ariana Grande, and Lana Del Rey aren’t just topping charts—they’re weaving witchy themes into their music, style, and public personas. The result? A glamorized version of the occult that’s especially appealing to young, impressionable fans.

Speaking on astrology and tarot cards, Grande says its “kind of a tool to help us hear what we need to hear sometimes...”

Former medium-turned Christian, Jenn Nizza warns that celebrities make these practices look empowering—but they lead people away from truth and toward spiritual danger. “The enemy only needs a foothold,” she stated on her podcast, Ex Psychic Saved. “You give him that and he opens the door to oppression, confusion, and destruction.”

On that same podcast, Nizza featured Ashley, a former lucid dreamer who now warns about the dangers of occultic practices. Ashley shared how what began as a trauma coping mechanism spiraled into full-blown spiritual entanglement.

Eventually this led her to astral projection, divination, and even praying to idols. “Lucid dreaming becomes your idol, your therapy, your secret little world, and that removes the need for real healing through Christ. I never wanted to wake up.” She cautioned that what many perceive as harmless psychological exploration can quickly become a “slippery slope” into spiritual danger.

It wasn’t until she cried out to Jesus that she experienced true freedom and healing from past trauma. “Now, I give my dreams to the Lord,” she said. “He’s sovereign even over the night.”

As paganism rises—expected to triple in the U.S. by 2050—families must stay alert. What mainstream media peddles to children and young adults as entertainment or self-care is actually barely disguised neo-paganism and witchcraft.

Now more than ever, Christian parents, pastors, and youth leaders must guide the next generation with biblical clarity and spiritual courage. There is no better way to do that than to stay in the word of God and read it daily together. Expose the children and youth you know to gospel tracts and spread the gospel as far and wide as you can.

Many parents even keep a variety of Chick tracts and comic books in their homes, so their kids grow up on spiritual truth. Providing biblical reading material works as a great insulator against the creeping influence of the occult.

At Least 40,000 "Christian" Denominations Worldwide!!! Denominations are Unbiblical and Spoken Against in the New Testament!!!

1Cor 14:33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints.

February 12, 2014 Some critics of Christianity are keen to point out that, according to best estimates, there are roughly 40,000 Christian denominations worldwide. This is an astoundingly large figure, and some see it as evidence that Christianity is divided. If Christians can't even agree among themselves, how can they make exclusive claims about absolute truth?

After a quick search online, it's not hard to find a plethora of blog posts commenting on the large number of Christian denominations and concluding all sorts of things: "Christianity has splintered into pieces", or that there are "40,000 groups contradicting each other" and "40,000 different interpretations of the Bible."

1Co 1:10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.

1Co 1:11 For it hath been declared unto me of you, my brethren, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.

1Co 1:12 Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am of Paul; and I of Apollos; and I of Cephas; and I of Christ.

1Co 1:13 Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?

Unity of the Spirit

Eph 4:1 I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called,

Eph 4:2 With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love;

Eph 4:3 Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

Eph 4:4 There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling;

Eph 4:5 One Lord, one faith, one baptism,

Eph 4:6 One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

 Subject: Listener/LabTech Comment: Seeing an unbelievable number of Muslims MDs in Pittsburgh

So, for reasons that are not clear to me. The vast majority of techs, allied health professionals and nurses are white, some are black; with the overwhelming vast majority being from the US...

That being said, currently a very large percentage of the MDs are Muslims. Muslims with ME names and Muslims whose native language is NOT English.

Interject: ME names, is middle eastern names. I am not talking about Indonesian Muslims or Turks. Listen when I see those names I tend to look them up, their names all mean something, like most of ours do, at least our traditional names. You also can judge by some of the names if they are Shia or Sunni.

<<Unlike that man who posted about now we have to ask your religion, NO you don't. Look at the names. A Christian from the middle east will RARELY have a Muslim name and vice versa. Christian's will usually have a name out of the Bible...

A doctor will use his proper name. So, when you have Kahlid, Abdull, Abdulla, Omar, Turki, Ali, and so on your first thought is this man is Muslim.

Actually, they like to name themselves after their kings and caliphates. So name any king or caliph or sultan and there will be loads of Muslims named after these people.

Continuing: I do not know WHY we have so many Muslim MDs. It is very strange actually. It is like how the lab import Filipino techs, but they are deliberately importing Arab Muslim MDs. I don't know the reason for this.

Comment: If they are planning an Islamic Jihad against the American infidels (like they should be planning if they are being true to what the Koran tells them to do); it's so they can kill the "infidels" slyly and when the Mad Max scenario comes, they will deny care to the infidels or kill/maim them outright using subtle tactics. They are prepositioning these devils into our hospitals ahead of time for when the collapse comes when going to the hospital may cost you your life.

European, i.e. western trained physicians are not and have never been the problem. Physicians trained in the third world countries are the problem.

Many, a great many of them, were stopped dead in their tracks by the exam they have to sit for before they can apply for any residency. I have met many a medical doctor, a doctor from a foreign country, who tried to and could not pass the FEMGEM (that is not the real name of the test that is its nickname) and was forced to do some other form of work. (Labs will hire them and train them as techs. that is why I have met so many.) The number of them that cannot pass this is unbelievable. My grandfather and my father as well, to the best of my knowledge would not work with anyone like this.

So many of them do not have the same level of training, nor are their internship or residencies as intense or as long as ours. It is outrageous they should be practicing in the US without stringent vetting.

BTW, the traditional medical school model is not a US invention, it is a German system. MUSC College of Medicine | MUSC | Charleston, SC, where both my father and my grandfather graduated from was a good model of this...

When my sick aunt, the one who went on to be an attorney, interviewed at MUSC, they point blank told her, your grades are wonderful, we would love to take you, but our job is to produce physicians to take care of South Carolinians, and your health is not good enough to do this. (They turned down one of my other aunts because of her grades, apparently, future socialites were not qualified to take care of South Carolinians either.) I am not saying anything against her either, I never got anywhere near the interview committee and that aunt is actually quite smart.

So this is pure craziness to me.

More Rotten Fruit From "The Religion of Peace" Nashville Horror: Muslim Savage Mohamed

Mohamed Rapes Woman to Death on Church Steps In Nashville, firefighters stumbled onto a scene of pure horror on Nolensville Pike.

Mohamed Mohamed, 39, was caught in the act of raping an unconscious woman on the sidewalk outside a church. As firefighters pulled up, he was trying to pull her pants back on. They detained him on the spot. The victim, a 34-year-old Nashville woman believed to be homeless, was rushed to Vanderbilt University Medical Center, but died shortly after arrival. She is being identified through fingerprints. Surveillance footage shows the woman barely able to stand before collapsing on the church steps. Mohamed sat beside her, groped her as she tried to push him away, then dragged her to the ground and raped her repeatedly until her body gave out. Mohamed is charged with four counts of rape. His bond? $300,000. Under Tennessee law, even a predator caught in the act - a man who raped a dying woman to death on church steps - still gets a price tag for his freedom. Her last living moments were spent being brutalized outside a house of God. That is how broken our system is.
