Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprovved are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Another Step Closer To A One World Religion: 50 U.S. Churches To Read From The Quran

The American Dream--June 27, 2011--The three main pillars of the "New World Order" that the global elite want to bring about are a one world economy, a one world government and a one world religion. A lot of attention gets paid to the development of the first two pillars, but the third pillar gets very little attention. But the truth is that a one world religion is getting closer than ever. “Interfaith” conferences and meetings are being held with increasing frequency all over the globe. Major global religious leaders are urging all of us to focus on our “shared” religious traditions. The belief that all religions are equally valid paths to the same destination is being taught in houses of worship and at religious institutions all over the globe. This “interfaith movement” is being promoted by NGOs (NGO’s, non-profit organizations (NPO) and private voluntary organization (PVO) are the most used terms and are used interchangeably despite differing definitions), “charitable foundations” and top politicians and it is being backed by big money all over the planet.

Now some U.S. churches are trying to take things to another level. On June 26th, the National Cathedral in Washington D.C. and approximately 50 other churches in 26 U.S. states will publicly read from the Quran during their Sunday worship services.

This is all part of an interfaith project being promoted by the Interfaith Alliance and Human Rights First. The theme of this Sunday is “Faith Shared: Uniting in Prayer and Understanding”, and the goal is apparently to show how much Christian churches in the United States respect Islam.

The following are some of the other prominent U.S. churches that will be doing Quran readings this Sunday....

- *Christ Church in New York City
- *All Saints Church in Pasadena, California
- *Park Hill Congregational in Denver
- *Hillview United Methodist in Boise, Idaho
- *First United Lutheran in San Francisco

*St. Elizabeth's Episcopal Church in Honolulu
In all, churches in 26 U.S. states will be participating.

But these Quran readings are just supposed to be the beginning of something bigger. The following is from a description of the Quran reading project on the website of Human Rights First....

At its core, this project will bring together Christian, Jewish and Muslim clergy to read from and hear from each other's sacred texts. In doing so, they will serve as a model for respect and cooperation and create a concrete opportunity to build and strengthen working ties between and among faith communities moving forward.

The truth is that all Americans have the freedom to read the Quran whenever they want. But should Christian churches be reading from it during Sunday worship and should they be seeking to "build and strengthen working ties" with Islamic groups that are seeking to promote the spread the Islamic death cult?

Obviously, many Christian leaders are not pleased with this development. Worldview Weekend President Brannon House recently made the following comment regarding the reading of the Quran in U.S. churches....

"They have denied the exclusivity of Jesus Christ. They have denied the inerrancy of Scripture; they've denied the inspiration of Scripture."

Sadly, this is not a new trend. The truth is that the "interfaith movement" has been building momentum for decades and some of the most prominent religious leaders in the world are involved.

For example, the following excerpt from a CNS article talks about a huge "interfaith event" hosted by the Pope when he visited Washington D.C. in 2008....

When Pope Benedict XVI comes to the Pope John Paul II Cultural Center in Washington for an early-evening interfaith meeting April 17 with Buddhists, Hindus, Jews, Muslims and representatives of other religions, space will be at a premium.

Many top U.S. Christian leaders have been very involved in the "interfaith movement" as well.

For example, Brian McLaren, one of the top leaders of the emerging church movement, actually celebrated Ramadan back in 2009.

Rick Warren, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, has been a guest speaker at the national conference of the Islamic Society of North America.

Some time ago, a virtual "who's who" of evangelical Christian leaders that included Rick Warren, Robert Schuller, Brian McLaren, Richard Cizik and Bill Hybels all signed a letter to the Islamic community that was entitled "Loving God And Neighbor Together".

This letter made it abundantly clear that these Christians leaders consider Allah and the Christian God to be the same entity.

Let's take a quick look at a couple of quotes from the letter....

Before we "shake your hand" in responding to your letter, we ask forgiveness of the All-Merciful One

In Islam, "the All-Merciful One" is one of the key names for Allah.

So in this letter the Christian leaders were praying to Allah and were asking for his forgiveness and were acknowledging that he is God.

Here is another quote from the letter....

If we fail to make every effort to make peace and come together in harmony you correctly remind us that “our eternal souls” are at stake as well.

The truth is that Jesus would not have wanted anything to do with this one world religion that the New World Order is trying to bring in.

In John 14:6, Jesus made the following statement.....

I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

You would think that would be so clear that no Christian leader would ever be able to misunderstand it.

In fact, the very first of the Ten Commandments are about how no other gods should ever be worshipped except for the one true God. In Exodus 20:3 it says the following....

Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

But today everybody wants to be “politically correct”.

That is especially true of religious leaders.

But this is exactly what the global elite want. They want everyone herded into one giant “global religion” that they will be able to take charge of and control.

Of course once the global religion is established, they won’t have much use for the real Jesus Christ or for the Bible.

Texe Marrs reports on the wild and the wilder in a “religious” world filled with fruitcake Christian apostasy:

- (1) Sexy Christian women into “Pole Dancing for Jesus;”
- (2) Three lesbian pastors officially received into the Lutheran Church;
- (3) He’s back! Former head of National Association of Evangelicals, Ted Haggard, says he favors gay marriage and welcomes gays, lesbians, and transgenders to his church in Colorado;
- (4) Former British Prime Minister Tony Blair, a recent convert to Roman Catholicism, teams up with gay priest, Father Michael Seed. Seed, meanwhile, is outed for hosting wild parties for transvestite nuns and for ripping off the rich by selling Vatican knighthoods;
- (5) And more on Catholic convert Tony Blair: He’s coming to America, invited to speak at a Southern Baptist University;
- (6) Famed evangelist Billy Graham: “Some people are born Christians;”
- (7) At marriage of Britain’s Prince William and Kate Middleton, Muslim, Hindu, and Jewish traditions blended into ceremony. Marriage was officiated by Archbishop Rowan, an initiate and witch of the Order of Druids;
- (8) Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney, a Mormon, belatedly attempts to clean-up his past. Romney, who once bragged he could “out-Kennedy Ted Kennedy,” led “Gay Day” parades in Boston and approved XXX-porno movies at the hotel chain he owns;
- (10) Vatican publicly praises Buddhism as religion of “truth;”
- (11) Crystal Cathedral in California files for bankruptcy; tells gays and people shacking up to stay away. Founder and now retired Reverend, Dr. Robert Schuller, is angry at new direction of his once very liberal church;

(12) Zionist Pastor John Hagee hosts Republican presidential candidate, thrice married Newt Gingrich, in church's pulpit;

(13) Evangelist Greg Laurie uses homosexual singers and raucous rock bands to lure audiences to crusades;

(14) Harvard's Reverend Peter J. Gomes, a homosexual, black pastor acclaimed by gays as their "Champion," dies at 68. Gomes despised biblical Christians, called them "homophobics."

15) Pastor Joe Nelms Blasphemous Nascar Prayer

Subject: More Perversion running rampant in the church today

This shows the perfect perversion happening in the church today – the secular music played in the church and the bed set up on the stage in the sanctuary
And this is the pastor of the church and he keeps saying we need to change our way of thinking – and he goes to Song of Solomon and he also says if you get Offended then blame in on the bible –

You know the kids song "The B-i-B-L-E" – it goes – the b-i-b-l-e yes that's the book for me, I stand alone on the word of God, it's the sexual book for me!!!! (I nearly fell out of my chair scott) (this is the way he sang it on stage)

He said "It's time we put the church back in the bed and the bed back in the church"
He said it's probably freaking some of you out seeing this bed here on stage!!!!

Play from 4:59-5:36, 6:36-7:43

Home Depot truck promotes company as 'HOMO' Depot--Also advertises "Philly's premiere lesbian nightclub"

July 25, 2011--Last month, Home Depot allowed its logo to be changed in order to show support for the homosexual agenda, which includes gay marriage. The Home Depot logo on a company truck door was altered to read "Homo Depot" for the 2011 Philadelphia Gay Pride parade. In addition, Home Depot let a banner hang from the truck to promote "Sisters," the self-proclaimed "Philly's premier lesbian nightclub." Home Depot also allowed two lesbians to flaunt their homosexuality while riding on a company truck during the parade.

Over one-half million people have signed a pledge to boycott The Home Depot until it agrees to remain neutral in the culture and political war over homosexual marriage.

To help promote the boycott, AFA has produced the AFA Pass Along Sheet. Please print copies of this sheet and share them with your neighbors, friends and co-workers. Encourage them to join the boycott of The Home Depot.

TAKE ACTION

1. Pray for Home Depot Chairman Frank Blake to make wise decisions regarding his company's direction.
2. If you have not done so, sign the Boycott Pledge at BoycottTheHomeDepot.com.
3. Call your local Home Depot store and ask to speak to the manager. You can find the number to your local store here (click "Store Finder" at top of page) or in your local phone book.
4. Print the paper petition and distribute it at Sunday school and church.

A group of Omaha pastors has issued a proclamation that states homosexuality is not a sin

Russ Jones - OneNewsNow - 7/16/2011

More than 100 ordained Christian ministers have signed the proclamation, including leaders from Lutheran, Episcopalian, United Church of Christ, United Methodist, and Presbyterian churches.

David Bydalek is executive director of Family First, the family policy council for the state of Nebraska.

He says: "When they come out with this sort of statement, I think they really do not reflect the mainstream feeling in the state of Nebraska," Bydalek suggests. "When we passed our marriage amendment years ago, we had about 70 percent of those in Nebraska who opposed 'gay marriage.'"

But when Christians take a stand to support traditional biblical teaching on the issue, the Family First executive director laments that they are often perceived as "bigots" or "homophobes."

Meanwhile, creators of the proclamation argue the document displays full acceptance of lesbian, "gay," bisexual and transgender people.

Gay, Pseudo Christian Emergent Church Festivals--Abomination in the woods with gay, tattooed and liberal heathen

Jun 30th 2011 | SHAKORI HILLS, NORTH CAROLINA |

AT LEAST 25 Christian music festivals are held each summer in America, but they have never catered for theological liberals. Until this year, that is, when the Wild Goose Festival—named after a Celtic symbol for the Holy Spirit—kicked off on June 23rd on 72 wooded acres in eastern North Carolina, not so far from the intellectual hub of Raleigh-Durham.

The idea, seven years in the making, was based on Britain's Greenbelt Festival in Cheltenham, which draws 20,000 people a year. About 1,500 people came to the American version, which explicitly pitched its appeal to artists and musicians, nonconformists, post-Christians, non-Christians, disaffected evangelicals and a liberal evangelical subset known as the "emergent" church.

Instead of Bible studies, there were labyrinth walks. Instead of praise-and-worship music, there was hymn-singing in a beer garden and a bluegrass liturgy presided over by a tattooed female Lutheran minister. Visitors were greeted with buckets of water in which to baptise themselves, and tubs of mud to remind them that "dust thou art".

Lecture topics ranged from sex trafficking and social justice to authority in the church and interfaith relations. Visitors could learn from Tom Prasada-Rao, a singer, how to chant "Om" and "Hallelujah Hare Krishna", or hear Paul Fromberg, a pastor from San Francisco, talking about his 2005 wedding to another man. "God is changing the church through the bodies of gay men," Mr Fromberg told a packed session on human sexuality. Also under discussion was "religious multiple belonging"—in other words, belonging to a clutch of different faiths at once.

Several disillusioned evangelical leaders attended. One was Jay Bakker, son of Jim and Tammy Bakker of the defunct-Praise-the-Lord-TV-network fame, who gave meandering talks on growing up fundamentalist. Bakker started the blasphemous ministry called "One Punk Under God".

Concentration Camps in USA, Jay Bakker, the Golden Fleece, Hecate, the Crossroad Curse, Robert Johnson the Blues and Rock Music

Frank Schaeffer, who has made a career out of criticising his evangelical parents Francis and Edith Schaeffer, called the Bible "Bronze-Age mythology" and confessed he had a "conflicted ambivalence" about abortion.

The promoters of this event hope that the emergent cohort will rise from the ashes of an evangelicalism. As 78-year-old Phyllis Tickle, author of several books on emergent Christianity, put it, "We're at the start of a 500-year upheaval in culture and the church." Most evangelicals do not view the emergents so kindly. The few conservatives at the festival privately complained that the panels were stacked with liberals and that issues dear to them, such as abortion, were neglected.

Mainline Protestants, however, seemed delighted by the festival, and may well latch on to the emergents to shore up their shrinking numbers. Buoyed by their success, Wild Goose's organisers are planning to repeat the festival next year in the same bucolic place.

TBN's LEADER'S SPIRITUAL BLINDNESS (Friday Church News Notes, February 4, 2011, www.wayoflife.org fbns@wayoflife.org, 866-295-4143) - The following is from Berean Call, December 2010: "On October 17 [1989], Paul and Jan Crouch welcomed three Catholics to their Praise the Lord program: two priests and a woman lay leader. Paul displayed his usual naïveté and incredible ignorance of theology by smoothing over any differences between Protestants and Catholics as 'simply matters of semantics.' In his eager embrace of Transubstantiation, a heresy so great that thousands died at the stake rather than accept it, he declared: 'Well, we [Protestants] believe the same thing. So you see one of these things that has divided us all of these years [Transubstantiation] shouldn't have divided us all along because we were really meaning the same thing but just saying it a little differently. ... I [am] eradicating the word Protestant even out of my vocabulary. ... I'm not protesting anything anymore ... it is ... time for Catholics and non-Catholics to come together as one in the Spirit and one in the Lord.' But Catholics have a different gospel of salvation by works and ritual through the essential mediation of that Church.

This is dated news, but it is timely and relevant, all the same. The charismatic movement and its experience- and emotion-based ecumenicism is one of the adhesives of end-times apostasy. Another is Contemporary Christian Music. It is a unifying factor that is not founded on sound doctrine. One of the great sins and errors of modern evangelicalism is its silence in the face of such things. How many influential evangelicals have reprovved Paul Crouch and TBN publicly? Reproving sin and heresy is not "shooting" people. It is an act of love for God and His truth and it is an act of compassion toward those who are being led astray. We are commanded to "earnestly contend for the faith once delivered to the saints" (Jude 3). Spiritual pacifism and reprovving sin and error in generalities might broaden your ministry and support base, but it won't get the job done for full-orbed truth in this dark world.
