Ephesians 5:11, 13-16: "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. But all things that are reprov'd are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light. See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

The 1828 Noah Webster Dictionary defines:

Reprove: To blame, to convince of a fault, or to make it manifest, to excite a sense of guilt.

Circumspectly: Cautiously; with watchfulness every way; with attention to guard against surprise or danger.

Matthew 24:24: "...if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect."

II Corinthians 2:11: "Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices."

II Chronicles 7:14: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Contending For Truth Flash Drive Update

Hey brother Scott,

Those USB Drives arrive yesterday ... BUT

When I tried to load up the 64Gb Drive it just wouldn't load data, files were missing and corrupt ... so I opened the shell of the USB Drive to check the serial number of the chip inside (I've been working in the IT industry since 1992) and low and behold there's only 4Gb Chip inside these drive!!!! So I've been ripped off with counterfeit drives!! Over $400 dollars worth of them too!!

... So please inform the listeners there won't be any USB Drives for sale until I get paid from my job so I can order more ... and then there's delivery time of stock on top of that, so at least 4-5 weeks :(I feel so bad about this brother, but there's nothing I can do but suck up the loss, and write it off to experience.
Always your brother in Christ Jesus our Lord
Paul

On Halloween, US military forces trained for zombie apocalypse at counterterrorism summit

Members of the Kilgore Rangerettes dressed up in zombie costume wait to participate in a halftime show during a NFL football game between the Dallas Cowboys and New York Giants Sunday, Oct. 28, in Arlington, Texas.

Pro 8:35 For whoso findeth me findeth life, and shall obtain favour of the LORD.

Pro 8:36 But he that sinneth against me wrongeth his own soul: all they that hate me love death.

Psa 97:10 Ye that love the LORD, hate evil: he preserveth the souls of his saints; he delivereth them out of the hand of the wicked.

Rom 12:9 ...Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good.

Mic 3:2 Who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones;

Mic 3:3 Who also eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from off them; and they break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

Mic 3:4 Then shall they cry unto the LORD, but he will not hear them: he will even hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved themselves ill in their doings.

31 Oct 2012 Why is the US military preparing for a zombie apocalypse? That's the latest training exercise that US Marines and Navy special-operations forces will be taking part in on an island off the coast of San Diego - starting on Wednesday, aka Halloween. "This is a very real exercise. This is not some type of big costume party," Brad Barker, president of the Halo Corp. security company, told the Associated Press. A zombie invasion would have characteristics similar to other catastrophic events and would be 'a federal incident,' a summit organizer says. This scenario is dire, modeled in part on a public-service campaign that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) launched last year, warning that US citizens should be prepared in the event of a zombie invasion. It will play out Wednesday and Thursday at Halo's annual Counter-Terrorism Summit security conference, which will be attended by, among other people, former Central Intelligence Agency director Michael Hayden. Zombies will invade Paradise Point Resort, which covers 44 acres on an island that will be transformed with Hollywood-style sets, including a Middle Eastern village and a pirate cove.

"No doubt when a zombie apocalypse occurs, it's going to be a federal incident, so we're making it happen," Mr. Barker told the AP.

Some 1,000 US military personnel, police, and state and federal government officials will be charged with responding.

One Listener Writes: Our beautiful city is being overrun with zombies and they call it an exercise! I can believe they are getting behind this because you and others like you have warned us. I just can't get past the frivolous spending from Homeland Security to put this on in our city...No one asks the tax payers if they want their hard earned money to be spent on a bunch of adults acting like teenagers. These people who dress up, fake blood and all, really need to find meaningful employment...They are only conditioning us to receive and accept marshal law and they want our 2nd amendment rights taken away. Dear Lord, help us! If you can, please mention this on your broadcast.

Last month, the Department of Homeland Security released its own webinar about zombie preparation as an "effective way of engaging new audiences," as one FEMA official noted. Reuters / May 20, 2011 A blog post by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention that mentions a "zombie apocalypse" as a lighthearted way to get Americans to read about preparing for hurricanes drove so much traffic that it crashed the website, the agency said Thursday.

Social Media: Preparedness 101: Zombie Apocalypse

"There are all kinds of emergencies out there that we can prepare for," the blog post begins.

"Take a zombie apocalypse for example... You may laugh now, but when it happens you'll be happy you read this, and hey, maybe you'll even learn a thing or two about how to prepare for a real emergency."

"If you prepare for the zombie apocalypse, you'll be prepared for all hazards," CDC spokesman Dave Daigle told Reuters Thursday.

The word zombie comes from voodoo practice of spirit possession in which victims are stripped of consciousness.

Zombies became popular culture references after the success of George Romero's 1968 horror film "Night of the Living Dead" where flesh-eating zombies roam the eastern seaboard in the aftermath of radioactive contamination.

Zombie Neuroscientist Explains the Ant-Like Behavior of World War Z's Running Dead

The first World War Z trailer is out, and the long-anticipated adaptation of Max Brooks' zombie novel looks pretty scary. But it raises one important question: What's up with all those swarming zombies?

Where are the slow-moving hordes like those in The Walking Dead or the fast-running lone rangers of 28 Days Later? But what's up with the massive throngs of quick-moving ghouls? And what's the deal with the coordinated efforts of these things and all the body-ladder building?

Are World War Z's raging dead actually — smart? According to zombie neuroscientist Bradley Voytek, they're not. So Brad Pitt's character Gerry Lane has one less thing to worry about.

"Unlike previous 'fast zombie' movies like '28 Days Later' wherein the zombies are basically acting independently of one another, the zombies here are showing what look like intelligent behaviors: clustering, swarming and even coming together to form a 'zombie ladder,'"

Voytek, a neuroscience Ph.D. who is on the advisory board of the Zombie Research Society, (more on them shortly) said in an e-mail to Wired. "While people might be tempted to say that the WWZ zombies are therefore somewhat intelligent, I'd argue the zombies here are simply exhibiting emergent behaviors like what we see with ants."

The behavior, Voytek said, can be akin to those insects, which work together to take down much bigger spiders or build bridges across large bodies of water. Meaning that even though World War Z's monsters look like they're forming a well-coordinated army to take on Brad Pitt and the rest of humanity, they're actually just dumb lugs mimicking the actions of the rest of the horde.

Subject: Listener Comment on World War Z movie

Brother Scott, I've been following very close all the news related to a movie called "World War Z", a movie stage in a not so far future where humanity is faced with a huge deadly virus turning normal people into deadly zombies, the movie is based on the same name book written by Max Brooks & this movie is being discussed for a very long time on internet forums and being touted as the best thing ever, I did some research about the book to see why it has become such huge phenomenon to lead to a heavy budget movie featuring Brad Pitt as the main character, to my surprise the story engulfs Israel and puts the in the context of a possible World War III the whole world, where Israel closes its borders, leaving Pakistan and Iran to destroy each other.

I strongly suggest you to do some research on this, I'm pretty sure you will see some very interesting points related to all your previous studies about pandemics, avian flu, world war III and your most recent study about zombies.

From Wikipedia you can read the following:

As the infection spreads, the State of Israel is the only country to take the reports of zombies seriously, initiating a nationwide quarantine and closing its borders to everybody except uninfected Jews and Palestinians. Pakistan and Iran destroy each other in a nuclear war after the Iranian government attempts to stem the flow of Pakistani refugees. The United States of America does little to prepare; although special forces teams are used to contain initial outbreaks, a widespread effort never starts as the nation is sapped of political will by several "brushfire wars", and a placebo fraudulently marketed as a vaccine has created a false sense of security. When the world recognizes the true scope of the problem, a period known as the "Great Panic" begins. Following the fall of New York City, the United States Army sets up a high-profile defense at Yonkers, New York to restore American morale. The U.S. military uses obsolete Cold War tactics on the zombies, including anti-tank weapons and demoralization through wounding. These have no effect on the zombies, which "can't be shocked and awed", have no self-preservation instincts, and can only be stopped if shot in the head and killed. The soldiers are routed on live television, while other countries suffer similarly disastrous defeats, and human civilization teeters on the brink of collapse.

Zombie Research Society Information

About Us

What you don't know can eat you!

ZRS members are known as One Percenters (1%ers), because we are committed to being among the one percent of people likely to survive a global zombie outbreak. Though we represent diverse backgrounds, interests and theories, we are unified in our support of the Zombie Research Society's three foundational principles:

- 1. A zombie is a relentlessly aggressive human or reanimated human corpse driven by a biological infection.
- 2. The zombie pandemic is coming. It's not a matter of if, but a matter of when.
- 3. Enthusiastic debate about zombies is essential to the survival of the human race.

Outbreak Map

Zombie Research Society is the only organization to present a fact-based list of potential zombie outbreaks throughout history. Other accounts found in books and on the web are fictionalized for entertainment purposes, and should not be used for analyzing the coming zombie threat.

If you have information about possible zombie outbreaks not yet featured on the map below, please contact us with all relevant details.

Advisory Board

Matt Mogk (“Moke”)

Head of Zombie Research Society

Matt is the Head of Zombie Research Society and author of Everything You Ever Wanted to Know About Zombies (2011), the most comprehensive zombie book ever published. His recent TV appearances include Spike’s Deadliest Warrior, and AMC’s Talking Dead, the live after-show of The Walking Dead.

mogk@zrs.me

George A. Romero
Legendary Zombie Filmmaker

George Romero is unquestionably the biggest name in modern zombie culture, having created the genre with his 1968 classic film Night of the Living Dead. His credits include some of the most widely recognized and heavily referenced movies in the history of horror.

Steven Schlozman, M.D.
Harvard Medical School

Dr. Schlozman is Co-Director of Medical Student Education in Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, and the author of The Zombie Autopsies (2011), a novel that follows an elite medical team as they investigate the biology of zombies in the face of a global undead plague.

Tara C. Smith, Ph.D.
University of Iowa

Tara C. Smith is an Assistant Professor of Epidemiology at the University of Iowa. An infectious disease epidemiologist, her research centers on emerging diseases, particularly those which originate in animals. Her other interests include zombie pandemic preparedness.

Daniel W. Drezner, Ph.D.

Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy

Daniel W. Drezner is professor of international politics at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University, and the author of Theories of International Politics and Zombies (2011), a nonfiction work that looks at what would happen to different systems of government if the dead rose and started to eat the living.

Bradley Voytek, Ph.D.

University of California, San Francisco

Bradley Voytek is a neuroscientist at the University of California, San Francisco studying the role of neural oscillations in communicating brain networks. His work on patients with brain damage has led him to formalize the theoretical neuroanatomy of the zombie brain.

Peter Cummings, M.D.

Massachusetts Medical Examiner's Office

Dr. Cummings is Director of Forensic Neuropathology at the Boston office of the Massachusetts Medical Examiner, and author of The Neuropathology Of Zombies (2011), a novel that follows autopsies carried out on zombies in hopes of uncovering the shocking truth behind of the zombification process.

Scott Kenemore
Bestselling Author

Author Scott Kenemore has penned several zombie books including the bestseller The Zen of Zombie (2007), Z.E.O. (2009), and his most recent novel Zombie, Ohio was released in February, 2011.

Timothy Verstynen, Ph.D.
Center for the Neural Basis of Cognition

Dr. Verstynen is a neuroscientist at the Center for the Neural Basis of Cognition in Pittsburgh, specializing in human brain imaging and neural network modeling. His interest in theoretical neuroscience, and fascination with zombie behavior, has driven him explore the hypothetical architecture of the undead brain.

Mike Harris, Ph.D.
University of Alaska, Fairbanks

Mike Harris is Associate Professor of Biology at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks, where he specializes in neuro-autonomic regulation. In this capacity he has long been intrigued by the physiological basis for zombies, particularly as it relates to metabolic suppression.
